Allende toppled in Chile?

SALVADOR ALLENDE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chilean armed forces rose up against President Salvador Allende today and demanded that he resign. Radio reports monitored in Argentina said the Western Hemisphere's only elected Marxist government had been toppled.

Air force planes swooped menacingly over Government House in downtown Santiago and troops and tanks surrounded the building. Allende, barricaded inside, managed to broadcast a defiant message, vowing "to resist by every means even at the cost of my life."

Moments later telephone and telegraph communications were cut off with the outside world and broadcasts monitored in neighboring countries indicated the armed forces controlled the state radio network.

International flights were canceled and truck drivers en route to Chile over the rugged Andean mountains said the borders were closed.

"The armed forces and the carabineros — Chile's elite police force — are ready to initiate a historic action for the liberation of the fatherland from the Marxist yoke," said a military communique monitored in Buenos Aires. "...The Chilean workers can have the security that their economic and social conquests will not suffer fundamental modifications."

Rapid-fire military announcements, issued in the names of the top military commanders, asked the people to stay in their homes and avoid demonstrations, even in support of the new military junta apparently to be established.

The military had remained outside Chilean politics since 1930, but were drawn in after the 64-year-old Allende won election in October 1970.

Gilligan to call special session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan said today he will call the General Assembly back into special session the week of Oct. 22.

Gilligan said in a statement the purpose would be for lawmakers to put into the law "strong, clear and effective controls over political campaign financing in all elections" and to act on pending legislation to modernize elections.

The Democratic governor, in a letter to the majority and minority leaders of both houses, called the recently completed first session of the 110th General Assembly "extremely productive."

He added: "I firmly believe that certain reforms in our election laws which I first proposed last January, should be enacted into law before the opening of the campaign year of 1974."

He urged leadership in both houses to appoint a special joint committee to begin hearings next week on new campaign spending legislation.

The General Assembly adjourned Aug. 28 after eight months in session.

"Never have we had a better opportunity," Gilligan said, "with a more receptive public atmosphere to outlaw all of the sleazy practices which have undermined our electoral system and have shaken our people's faith in their government."

The governor wants the legislature also to act on three bills that already have passed the House and are pending in a Senate committee headed by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati.

The bills would clarify residency requirements, extend the closing time of polls and revamp the current voter registration system.

Gilligan said if both houses could agree on final passage of election

Shield law under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee began hearings today on two legislative proposals aimed at protecting newsmen from revealing their sources.

The committee, headed by Sen. Paul Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, began hearing a proposed constitutional amendment as well as a bill authorized by Gillmor that would expand Ohio's current shield law.

Ohio's current law protects reporters only from divulging sources, but does not detail what happens to a newsmen subpoenaed for grand jury testimony.

Gillmor has said he feels a recent Supreme Court ruling on a California shield law, similar to Ohio's, may have weakened protection for state newsmen.

His bill would shield reporters from contempt for failing to divulge information, but would not protect reporters who actively participate in criminal activity.

reform legislation by Nov. 1, the new laws could be effective for the 1974 elections.

He did not set a time limit on the session.

Cambodian generals executed

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — At least 12 officers in the Cambodian army were executed last Friday for ordering their troops to retreat before an enemy attack near besieged Kompong Cham, reliable sources reported today.

The executions were ordered after an inspection of Kompong Cham, Cambodia's third largest city 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, by Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, the commander in chief of the Cambodian army, the sources said. They reported he issued a general order to upper-echelon commanders to shoot anyone refusing to fight.

It was the first report of executions of Cambodian army officers for desertion in the face of the enemy in the three years of war in Cambodia.

The sources gave this account of the incident:

The officers were first lieutenants and captains who pulled their men back last Thursday during an attack by the Khmer Rouge insurgents on government defensive positions at the village of Balaing, two miles north of Kompong Cham.

The officers' general behavior under fire demoralized the troops under their command and resulted in high casualties among them.

The officers ordered the retreat without their men firing a shot at the Khmer Rouge and without consulting their superior officers.

At Kompong Cham today, the government forces were reported attacking the insurgents holding the southern part of the town in an attempt to catch the rebels in a pincer movement.

Chillicothe fire kills 3 persons

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Three persons died early today when a fire gutted the bedroom of a downtown Chillicothe home.

Firemen tentatively identified two of the victims as Norval Marshall, thought to be in his 70s, and Adeline Marshall, believed to have been in her 30s. The identity of a child killed in the blaze was not immediately determined.

Firemen said it appeared the three had died of smoke inhalation.

The fire apparently was touched off by a faulty electric blanket, firemen said.

The blaze was reported by a neighbor shortly before 7 a.m.

Little cigar ads banned by bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A measure to extend the broadcast ban on cigarette advertising to little cigars has been passed by the House and sent to President Nixon.

The law, approved 287 to 63, would take effect 30 days after signing.

EVERYONE'S A CRITIC — Wayne Watson was strumming his guitar and enjoying a pleasant day along Brandywine Creek near Wilmington, Del., when his dog Reuben decided to take a swim. Wayne was surprised with an unexpected shower when Reuben chose to shake himself dry next to his friend.

Nixon not subject to court orders?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers were expected to argue before a nine-judge appeals court today that the president is not subject to court orders.

The lawyers hoped to convince the U.S. Circuit Court that Nixon cannot be compelled to turn over the White House tape recordings on Watergate sought by special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

The appeal stemmed from the Aug. 29 order by Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that he be allowed to hear the tapes to determine what, if anything, should be turned over to the grand jury.

The appeals court Monday rejected a request from the Senate Watergate committee for time to present its own arguments as a friend of the court.

That left today's hearing a three-way argument over Nixon's attempt to nullify Sirica's decision, Cox's attempt to expand it, and support of Sirica's position by two law professors selected by the judge.

Sirica said Monday he would welcome a court order permitting Cox to join him in listening to the tapes. In preliminary pleadings filed by his lawyers, he said he would welcome Cox's help "in determining whether any of the conversations might be legitimately privileged from disclosure."

In another development, the House voted 334 to 11 to initiate contempt action against Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy.

Liddy refused even to take the oath as a witness before a House intelligence subcommittee last July in its probe of alleged Central Intelligence Agency connections with Watergate.

He already is serving an eight-month contempt-of-court sentence for refusing to tell what he knows to the Watergate grand jury. After that term, he faces an 80-month to 20-year prison term for his conviction in the Watergate break-in.

The congressional contempt charge carries a maximum of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Connally eyes 1976 election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Democrat John Connally has acknowledged he's thinking about running for the presidency in 1976 and says he will have to decide by 1975.

On the occasion of yet another welcome into the Republican party, the former Navy secretary, former Democratic governor of Texas, former Treasury secretary and former aide to President Nixon displayed great pleasure in dueling verbally with newsmen about his presidential intentions.

At a news conference after a day-long meeting of the Republican National Committee, at which GOP leaders expressed confidence that the Watergate scandal would not hurt their 1974 and 1976 prospects, Connally was asked whether he had thought about running.

"If you were asking me if I've thought of that possibility, I'll just stipulate that right now," he replied.

Asked when he would have to decide, Connally replied that "any person would have to face that decision, I think, at some point in 1975."

$280,000 flow for legal fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's re-election committee has spent $280,000 in the past three months to defend itself and top officials in legal actions arising from the Watergate break-in and other campaign activities.

The committee, in its quarterly report to the General Accounting Office released Monday, listed $48,000 in legal expenses for finance chairman Maurice H. Stans.

Stans, former secretary of Commerce in the first Nixon term, was scheduled to go on trial today in New York along with former attorney general and Nixon campaign chief John N. Mitchell on charges arising from a secret $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert Vesco.

A committee spokesman said Stans' legal expenses have been paid in connection with various civil suits and grand jury and Senate testimony but not in the New York case.

Under a policy adopted last April, the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President says it will pay legal expenses of its current and former officials, but only up to the filing of formal criminal charges.

Stans reportedly has spent $100,000 out of his own pocket in the New York trial.

According to the quarterly report,

Stans remains on the committee payroll at $1,500 per month.

The next largest payment for legal expenses was $28,750 to the law firm representing Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy campaign chief who pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the Watergate break-in.

Another $24,495 in legal fees were paid for former campaign treasurer Hugh W. Sloan, who has appeared frequently before various grand juries and the Senate Watergate committee but apparently faces no charges.

The committee also reported paying $106,339 to two law firms that have represented the committee in general and some of its lesser officials in various civil actions, principally a suit for damages brought by the Democratic National Committee.

Legal fees for the past three months brought to $517,000 the total legal expenses of the Nixon re-election committee since the Watergate break-in on June 17, 1972.

In its quarterly report, the committee showed a cash balance of $4 million as of Aug. 31. It took in $564,000, mainly in close-out transfers from state committees, and spent $983,000.

Besides salaries and legal fees, the committee returned $395,000 in contributions, most of it from five corporations that admitted earlier this year to dipping illegally into corporate funds to make their donations.

General Telephone settlement near?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An official of the Communications Workers of America in Ohio said today a "last minute hitch" had temporarily delayed announcement of a settlement in the union's two-month-old strike of General Telephone Co.

Rolled steel price boosts gain approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council has approved a two-stage increase in the price of steel that an official says will eventually raise the price of such products as home appliances and autos.

Major steel companies will be able to increase the price of flat rolled steel an average $4.50 a ton on Oct. 1 and again on Jan. 1, the council said Monday.

The steel companies had wanted the $9-a-ton increase all at once, beginning next week. The council said the full increases average about 4.8 per cent over the current $150 to $200-a-ton price.

Council director John T. Dunlop said, "In due course there will be some effect on consumer prices, but there are several stages of production before that will be possible."

At a public hearing two weeks ago, one steel company executive estimated the increases would hike the cost of autos by about $11.88, a 15-cubic-foot refrigerator by 56 cents and an ordinary toaster by 1 cent.

Dunlop said the steel companies had fully justified the proposed increases. He said the council felt there was no justification in trimming or denying them and only could delay them to spread the impact over a 3½-month period of time.

In another development, the council acknowledged Monday, in response to questions, that it had given the Ford Motor Co. permission to make some former optional features standard on its 1974 models.

These options reportedly amount to $64 per car and are in addition to the $74-per-vehicle increase the council granted Ford last Friday.

Beef price situation still unstable

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef marketers were confused Monday whether the cost of red meat on grocers' counters would go up or down now that federal price controls have been lifted.

First indications from the Livestock News Service in Columbus showed steers selling within a dollar per hundred pounds of last week's prices. In Cleveland, prices dipped from $1 to $2 from the previous week.

A Columbus spokesman said buying was slow Monday in order to establish a market.

Ohio meat packers predicted earlier a short dip in beef costs as a result of an expected flow of cattle to the market.

Before the controls ended, retailers weren't sure of the effects of the freeze lifting. Now that the guidelines are suspended, store owners still aren't sure of the result.

A spokesman for Cincinnati-based Kroger expected prices to rise. Big Bear in Columbus told shoppers beef costs would remain stable for two weeks. A representative of Producers' Livestock predicted price cuts in the state within the next few days.

Ed McLaughlin, the producers representative from Marysville, said, "Farmers in some states have been holding their cattle back, fattening them for the time when they could get higher prices."

"But consumers are not going to pay the prices asked for these poorer cuts of meat," he predicted.

As a result, McLaughlin forecasts "sharp discounts" in prices in the next

Martin G. Hughes, CWA Dist. 4 vice president, said the union had been prepared to announce a tentative settlement to the strike, which began 56 days ago.

But he said there was a breakdown in negotiations as the announcement was about to be made.

As Hughes made the announcement, officials from CWA locals in the state met behind closed doors in a nearby conference.

Just before the news conference, Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank King and other top union officials arrived for the CWA meeting.

Hughes told reporters he expects an announcement soon. He said agreement was "very close."

About 2,800 General Telephone employees walked off the job July 16.

The strike has affected General Telephone service to customers in 70 counties served by the firm.

General Telephone has reported more than $1 million in damage to equipment during the course of the strike.

Several times, whole communities were without long distance or other service as supervisors tried to repair sliced cables.

The two sides met several times with a federal mediator, Howard Hughes, but seldom reported any progress. The last known negotiating session was more than a week ago.

Community officials in areas served by General Telephone went to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio Aug. 7 complaining the firm was not providing its 308,000 customers with adequate service.

Bank robbed at Groveport

GROVEPORT, Ohio (AP) — Two men and a woman robbed the Huntington National Bank here early today of an undetermined amount of money, a spokesman for police said.

The police spokesman said the suspects were armed, and fled the scene in a black and red late model car. The holdup occurred about 10:30 a.m.

Police and FBI agents were investigating.

few days when western beef reaches Ohio.

"It is impossible to make any prediction," a spokesman for Kroger grocery chain aid. "We have been losing money on beef. An adjustment in some areas is inevitable."

A spokesman for Super Duper Markets in Columbus said consumers would notice no immediate change after the price ceiling lift. Prices, he said, would depend on the market.

Though a spokesman for Big Bear said prices would not rise for at least

Larger beef supplies, price drop seen here

Now that the ceiling has been lifted, people here can logically expect to find more beef and better cuts in the retail markets, a spot check of markets here indicates.

Most of the retailers also expect the price to drop in the near future, but how much it will drop is anybody's guess.

One supermarket meat department manager said it is still too early to the next two weeks, he said speculation beyond the last week of this month is difficult.

Then the operator of a small grocery in Cincinnati — who feels the change in the market the most being without a large beef stockpile and a major supplier — said prices would be topsy-turvy.

"The little ranchers will flood the market. I feel the prices will be heading down soon. They may go up a couple of cents at first, but I think this will be settled soon."

notice any effect on the price by the lifting of the freeze. He added, however, that larger supplies are expected.

Another market manager said the supplies of beef have increased since the lifting of the price freeze, but declined to speculate on the future price trend.

Another reported that one cut of beef is being offered as a "special" this week.

THE LIFTING of the freeze has brought a flood of cattle to markets across the country and with it a sharp drop in prices at the major cattle markets. This is expected to show up soon on the retail meat counters.

6 men flee from jail in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Authorities are continuing their search for six men who escaped in a daylight breakout from the Jefferson County Jail Monday.

The men escaped shortly before 1 p.m. when they scaled a barbed wire fence which was put around the jail in late 1971.

Associate warden G.C. Vanderpool said the escapees used an eight-inch long hacksaw blade to cut through two bars in a second-floor jail window.

They then climbed over one barbed wire fence onto the roof of the jail carpentry shop, down a wall to the street level and over the barbed wire fence to freedom, Vanderpool said.

Ohio schools ask help with food, fuel shortages

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Board of Education Monday asked federal and state officials to take steps to prevent a crisis in food and fuel for the state's 5,038 schools.

"Without immediate federal action neither school districts nor parents will be able financially to provide pupils, especially in Ohio's major urban centers and impoverished rural areas, with essential food," said Board President James Meckstroth.

The board asked the federal government to restore the milk subsidy for all school children, increase support for all school lunches and increase the subsidy for free and reduced price lunches for needy children.

The Ohio Department of Education said federal cutbacks coupled with soaring prices and food shortages have increased school lunch prices by 12 percent this year.

The department said the federal milk subsidy has been reduced from $97 million to $25 million nationally for the current year.

Western European leaders skeptical about U.S. policy

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — West European leaders agree that President Nixon's trip to Europe this fall will produce far less than the "New Atlantic Charter" Henry Kissinger has proposed.

As part of his Year of Europe, Nixon wanted a large-scale summit meeting with America's European allies. The result was to be a resounding new statement of principles for the 24-year-old North Atlantic Alliance.

But Europeans say Nixon and Kissinger failed to take the precaution of consulting them in advance about these ideas. They suspected that the

Mitchell-Stans trial slated in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a last-minute postponement from an appeals court, jury selection in the trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans gets under way today in U.S. District Court.

The three-judge U.S. Appeals Court panel was to hear arguments on new defense requests to delay the one-time Cabinet officers' trial on charges of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury.

The appeals court could grant the request to postpone the proceeding, possibly for one month. It could reject the request. Or it could reserve decision with or without halting the trial.

Mitchell and Stans, the leaders of President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, are accused of obstructing a major fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco after Vesco made a secret $200,000 cash contribution to the Nixon campaign fund last year.

The contribution, with an additional $50,000 donated publicly by Vesco, was returned to him earlier this year. The refund came four months before the indictments in May but after the Securities and Exchange Commission filed a massive civil fraud suit against Vesco.

Since the indictment was returned against Mitchell and Stans last May 10, defense attorneys have sought unsuccessfully to dismiss charges or delay the trial, saying that "massive pretrial publicity" had precluded a fair trial.

Pretrial publicity prompted Presiding Judge Lee P. Gagliardi to summon 1,500 prospective jurors, the largest panel in the memory of court officials. Jury selection could take three to four days, possibly one week.

Oil available

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton says the answer to expanding the nation's oil supply lies under the continental shelf.

But Morton assured a meeting of wildlife and conservation officials from 50 states Monday that the off-coast drilling would be allowed only after adequate environmental safeguards were provided.

Marriage ceremony marks couple's entry into Army

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmy Lee and Jacqueline Peck are now husband and wife, and they're off for Army basic training, at separate camps. But the military says better days are ahead for the couple.

Municipal Court Judge Ronald Swearingner, an Air Force Reserve officer, married the two at an Army recruiting station Monday — and then signed both up for service with Uncle Sam.

"The recruiter kinda thought of it, and I kinda went along," said Lee, a 20-year-old with dark shoulder-length hair and a brush mustache. "I guess it's a pretty big occasion in my life."

Lee enlisted for four years as an infantryman. His wife, 19, enlisted for three years as a telephone operator. The two have known each other since high school days in suburban Alhambra.

The ceremonies took place at the Armed Forces building in a small conference room crowded with newsmen and Army information specialists. Two recruiting sergeants were best man and maid of honor.

"I used to want a formal wedding," said Jackie. "But if you're married, you're married."

Lee will take 16 weeks of basic and advanced training at Ft. Ord, Calif., while Jackie's initial assignment will be to Ft. McClellan, Ala. After that, the Army promised, they both will be assigned to duty at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Army spokesmen said a growing number of young marrieds are enlisting together in the armed forces, although statistics were unavailable.

Swearingner said it was his first such double ceremony, but he said enlistment of married couples "seems to be very much a trend."

"They get the base of their choice, and they can combine their two incomes. It works like a charm," he said.

President was using them for domestic political purposes.

Why, some of their diplomats asked, should the alliance be redefined just at this point to suit his convenience?

The result was a decision Monday by the nine countries of the European Common Market to make a strict division between talks on defense and economic matters. They are ready to talk about both, but in different frameworks.

They don't want to bring military and economic problems into the same meeting for fear that the United States will demand economic concessions in return for its spending on the defense of Europe.

The nine Common Market countries said they would draw up a declaration of "European identity" to make clear to the rest of the world the significance of their new community.

They want to point out that they are pledged to the creation of a European union by the end of the 1970s, though they refrained from saying just what that would mean.

At the same time, they sent Nixon a broad list of 10 subjects they want to discuss, plus a draft of a joint statement they hope to make on economic matters.

Beef picture

Producers Livestock Market here Tuesday and the run was about normal for a Tuesday auction; between 200 and 300 were expected. The price of cattle here was between $49 and $51 at the start of the day. This was a drop of about $3 from the previous week but still about $10 better than this time a year ago.

The manager of the cattle department explained that the lack of a big run at the market here was due many feeders having sold their cattle before the freeze. Since most of the animals here are marketed as "fat cattle," feeders in general find it more practical to sell their cattle when they are ready rather than keep them on feed for higher prices.

He also theorized that when beef starts coming to the retail markets in quantity again, and bring with it the prospect of lower prices, consumers may wait for the cost to go down, thus backing up the supply.

The lifting of the freeze on beef raises another question important to Fayette County: How will the increase in beef and prospect of lower prices affect the hog market?

The increase in meat supplies apparently has not discouraged rustling. Twelve fat hogs were reported stolen from the Producers Market stockyards sometime Monday night or early Tuesday.

County Health Council eyes major projects

Two topics of major potential were discussed in generalities and at length at a meeting of the Fayette County Health Planning Council Monday afternoon in Memorial Hospital.

One was a vast communication system for hospitals and emergency vehicles and the other was a program for expanding the ambulance service. Both the communication system and ambulance service were considered as a part of the 17-county Mid-Ohio Health Planning Federation.

The Council voted to apply for one of the 50 $400,000 grants offered by the Johnson & Johnson Co. for a communication system which would link the hospitals and emergency vehicles of the 17-county area together with short wave radio, similar to the present Citizens Band Radio system. Since the Johnson & Johnson program is on a nationwide basis and only 50 grants are available, the application for a grant to the 17-county Mid-Ohio organization is admittedly a long shot.

WITH A BILL setting up expanded and more efficient ambulance service now before the Ohio legislature, the Fayette County Health Planning Council reviewed the provisions of the bill and their application here. In general, the bill would require more sophisticated ambulance equipment and specially trained staffs on fulltime duty.

Since it would be up to the city and county to comply with the provisions of the bill — if it is approved — copies are to be sent to members of the City Council and Fayette County Board of Commissioners so they may have time to study the provisions.

Robert Kunz, Memorial Hospital administrator, commented after the meeting that the present ambulance service here is adequate and very satisfactory. "We (at the hospital) have had no complaints," he added.

Kunz also reported to the Council that 12 of the 13 graduates of the Memorial Hospital School of Practical Nursing had passed the state board examination and that the other member of the class, who was unable to take the exam at that time, will take it later.

Mrs. Jean Coe, RN, director of the school said five members of both the first and second graduating classes are now employed at Memorial Hospital. Many of the others are employed at nursing homes and convalescent centers here and elsewhere.

The third class of 16 started its studies Sept. 4.

Senate panel eyes wiretaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson agreed today to let a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee read FBI summaries of national security wiretaps to facilitate confirmation hearings on Henry A. Kissinger's nomination to be Secretary of State.

Richardson scheduled an afternoon meeting with Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and John Sparkman, D-Ala. The attorney general said they could not have access to the raw files but could read FBI summaries of what was learned from the wiretaps.

The full committee, in its third day of hearings on Kissinger's nomination, has been seeking access to the summaries in order to learn what role the national security adviser played in placing the wiretaps on 13 government officials and four newsmen in 1969 and 1970.

Richardson refused several times to give the full committee the summaries, claiming such access could lead to leaks which might damage either national security or the reputations of those under surveillance.

Female voice floats down from Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A woman stowaway aboard the Skylab space station? The astronauts tried to make mission control think so.

The center was running smoothly Monday night when a woman's voice beamed down from the orbiting laboratory.

"Hello, Houston, this is Skylab. Are you reading me down there?" Silence fell in the control center. Everyone looked surprised.

"Hello, Houston, are you reading Skylab?" the sexysounding voice repeated.

Capsule communicator Robert Crippen, who minutes earlier had been conferring with astronauts Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, overcame momentary surprise and replied:

"Ah, Skylab, this is Houston. I heard you all right. But I had a little difficulty recognizing your voice. Who've we got on the line here?"

"Isn't that you down there, Bob?" the woman's voice asked. "This is Helen here in Skylab. The boys haven't had a homecooked meal in so long I thought I would bring one up. Over."

"Roger, Skylab," Crippen said.

"I think someone has to be pulling my leg. Helen, is that really you?"

A center spokesman later explained that Garriott had recorded the voice of his wife, Helen, during a private radio conversation Sunday night.

The incident demonstrated the high spirits of the three astronauts as they begin the last two weeks of their 59-day orbital mission.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved lower today in moderate trading in a decline analysts said was prompted in part by profit taking and in part by worries over inflation and rising interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 7.22 at 884.11, while declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by nearly 3 to 1.

On the New York Stock Exchange, a block of 99,900 shares of Munford traded at 7, down 3/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the noon market-value index was down .87 at 100.45, while the NYSE index was down .51 at 53.10.

Other Big Board prices included Phillips Petroleum, down 1 1/4 to 51 1/4 after a recent comment by an analyst reducing his estimate of the company's North Sea reserves.

On the Amex, Syntex was off 1 1/2 to 93 1/2, and McCulloch Oil was down 3/4 to 4 1/4.

A cool front is moving southward across the Upper Great Lakes today and will be moving across Ohio this afternoon and tonight, the National Weather Service reports.

It was a little warmer over the state Monday with high temperatures ranging from 73 at Youngstown and Burke Lakefront Airport in downtown Cleveland, to 78 in the Dayton and Cincinnati areas. Early today temperatures were in the upper 40s and 50s under clear skies.

Partly cloudy skies are expected to accompany the cool front today with clearing tonight and Wednesday. High temperatures today are forecast in the 70s and low 80s, lows tonight in the upper 40s and low 50s and highs Wednesday in the upper 60s and 70s.

Fair weather in Ohio Thursday will be followed by a chance of showers Friday and Saturday. Highs will be in the low 70s Thursday, warming to the low 80s by Saturday. Lows Thursday will be in the low 50s, warming to around 60 by Saturday.

Woman treed by alligator

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Police report that a woman who asked them not to divulge her name was rescued Monday after a 10-foot alligator chased her up a tree.

She called for help, and a neighbor summoned police, who roped the reptile and helped the woman down.

Rangers from the State Parks & Wildlife Service arrived later and took the alligator to a marshy area from which, they said, it may have been forced by high water.

Savings and loans hurt by squeeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savings and loan associations say the Federal Reserve Board has cost them thousands of customers this summer and dried up the market for housing mortgages.

With interest rates at their highest mark in history, the Federal Reserve was the prime target Monday of the savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, small businessmen and homebuilders when the House Banking Committee opened a two-week hearing on the credit squeeze.

Since the Federal Reserve took the ceilings off interest rates for savings rate in commercial banks in July, large banks increased their net deposits in consumer accounts by $510 million, while savings and loan associations lost $313 million in July and more in August, Raleigh W. Greene, president of the National League of Insured Savings Associations, said.

Since the savings and loan industry provides more than half the mortgage money in this country, this has further

Not behind closed doors

Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas has had a lot to say in public about what he regards as over-emphasis on the Senate's Watergate investigation. He purports to believe that the televised hearings have given the public the impression that other congressional business has all but ground to a halt.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Mexico's growth poses problem

MEXICO CITY — The floods and the earthquake, taking such a heavy toll, made the headlines. But another kind of flood with a far more ominous meaning for the future gets little or no notice.

That is the flood of people rising at a rate in Mexico greater than anywhere else in the world. The disaster of this flood cannot be confined to Mexico's own borders, as the affluent neighbor to the north will in the years just ahead have good reason to know. In fact, the reservoir of the jobless and the poor is already overflowing across the border.

An unofficial estimate puts the number of illegal Mexicans in the United States at one million. Customs and immigration officers recently launched a drive to push 450,000 of these illegals back across the border. The fear here is that those who are pushed back, having had even a limited experience of higher standards, will turn to violence and terror.

MOREOVER, it is a revolving-door operation. The expellees take the first opportunity to go back and, the long border being as porous as a sieve, this is not too difficult. Organized exploiters take all they can get to truck these hapless people to a border point.

This is one aspect of the rising flood that should be met with a joint effort beyond political expediency. Organized labor fought the practice of United of introducing a resolution to implement his views. He has told his colleagues "it is time to move the Watergate investigation from the living rooms of America and put it where it belongs - behind the closed doors of the committee room and before the judge and jury in the courtroom." Is it, indeed?

Does the investigation, whose purpose includes the essential intent of exposing the truth of a great national scandal, in truth belong behind closed doors? We think emphatically not. A speedy conclusion is desirable, but this should be reached insofar as possible in full public view.

States firms on the border sending goods into Mexico for finishing at greatly reduced costs. Farm workers in California and the Southwest, defending their own low wage standards, opposed a revival of the organized bracero program under which Mexicans were allowed to cross over to do field work under careful supervision for several months of the year.

But this is really a minor symptom of what threatens to become a major illness unless through some joint effort the root cause can be attacked. President Luis Echeverria in his State of the Union message spoke frankly — Mexico's present population of 56 million will double in 20 years and by the end of the century there will be 135 million, requiring, as the President put it, food, housing, education, employment and all types of services.

This in a country where these requirements today fall far short of the need. What with the high birth rate and the decrease in mortality the present population growth is 3.5 per cent a year. That is higher than India — higher than any populous country in Asia or Africa.

DEFYING his critics who say his policy is inflationary, President Echeverria outlined a bold policy of expanded education. He put stress on new technological schools for agriculture and livestock.

During his first three years in office 262 new such schools have been established, bringing the total to 331. He proposed creating a new university in addition to the huge institutions with their hundreds of thousands of students already in being.

Echeverria put the total budget for education at $1.2 billion, up 91 per cent since 1970. It is a brave effort that will tax the government's resources, and particularly in light of the difficulty in reforming a tax system that allows the rich to get by with such low rates.

Whether the expansion can ever catch up with the need is a question that must go unanswered.

FIGURES are hard to come by. Perhaps 75 per cent of the population is under 35, half and under 25. What that means in raising the new generation above the subsistence level is all too obvious.

The parents of the millions of Mexicans of the year 2000 are already born or about to be born, Echeverria told the Congress in proposing additions to the present rather limited population law.

The casual visitor seeing the flood of infants and the very young in the streets and squares needs no reminder of that truth. But birth rates do not make headlines unless and until the human flood reaches the disaster level.

Nixon should hire Chou En-lai

If he were not so old and otherwise preoccupied, Chou En-Lai might make an ideal replacement for Henry Kissinger as national security adviser to President Nixon.

True, there could be problems in getting his security clearance, but strange times call for imaginative measures and we're living in a weird historical period. The London Economist recently referred to the government of the United States as a "stretcher case," and regrettably this is no understatement. We are floundering around like a beached whale.

The worst of it is that in order to get brownie points with the American people, President Nixon has to keep pushing the superlative merits of his policy of detente with the Soviet Union. Party leader Brezhnev and his colleagues thus have confidence that, to exaggerate a bit, nothing short of the Red Army's seizing Paris would put the United States in a tough mood.

And they feel increasingly free to suppress internal dissent, believing that even the imprisonment of a Solzhenitsyn and a Sakharov would not bring economic reprisals from Washington.

THE MYTH that the Cold War is over has been assiduously cultivated in Washington. Even so hard-headed a commentator as Joseph C. Harsch of the Christian Science Monitor observed with seeming approval that "the West has finally, at long last, accepted the control by the men of the Kremlin of everything lying between the Pripiet marshes and the River Elbe. Another way of saying it is that the West has finally ratified the Yalta agreements."

This is a strange formulation since the Yalta agreements included a preamble affirming the Four Freedoms, and provided for free elections in the liberated nations of Eastern Europe.

In point of fact, the Soviet Union never ratified Yalta (Communists governments were imposed by Soviet bayonets. But the Harsch article is significant because it quietly accepts a completely asymmetrical definition of detente. The Cold War is ending because we have folded our hand. As one symptom, American-Soviet talks about Mutual and Balanced Force Reductions in Europe have — after some classic Russian stonewalling over trivia — been redefined as negotiations on "mutual reduction of forces and armaments and associated measures in central Europe." What happened to "balanced"?

This is not a play on words. The NATO powers insisted from the outset that "balanced" reductions were crucial. The Soviets have generously offered to pull out a significant number of divisions — that is, march them back two or three hundred miles — if the United States did the same.

In the latter case, of course, the divisions would retire 3,000 miles. This is simply a bad joke, but it was supposed to be countered by the notion of strategic balance. Nonetheless the topic under discussion starting Oct. 30 in Vienna is "mutual" reductions.

THE SOVIET UNION, in short, is having a field day, while in the United States nobody but Sen. Henry Jackson, George Meany and a handful of liberals and social democrats seems to care, seems to realize that so far our "give and take" with Moscow has been all give and no take.

Which brings me back to Chou En-Lai, who has never been known to take his eye off the ball. The other day Chou sent a message to Moscow which Americans might ponder. "If you are so anxious to relax world tension," asked Chou, "why don't you show your good faith by doing a thing or two — for instance, withdraw your armed forces from Czechoslovakia or Mongolia and return the four northern (Kurile) islands to Japan?"

Later he sardonically inquired whether China must give the Soviets "all the territory north of the Great Wall . . . to show that we favor relaxation of world tension and are willing to improve Sino-Soviet relations?"

Extremely good questions. Let us pray that someone in Washington is going to start asking similarly specific and pointed questions about the nature of detente.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 11, the 254th day of 1973. There are 111 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1609, English explorer Henry Hudson discovered the island of Manhattan.

On this date — In 1777, forces under Gen. George Washington were defeated by the British in the battle of Brandywine near Wilmington, Del.

In 1814, U.S. ships defeated a British fleet in the battle of Lake Champlain.

In 1850, Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," gave her first concert in America at Castle Garden in New York.

In 1914, during World War I, an Australian force captured German New Guinea.

In 1941, construction began on the Pentagon in Washington.

In 1945, former Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo tried to commit suicide. He recovered and was later executed as a war criminal.

Ten years ago: Segregation ended at the University of South Carolina as three Negroes were enrolled.

Five years ago: A French airliner crashed in the Mediterranean, killing all 95 persons aboard.

One year ago: Bernard Barker, accused leader of the Watergate break-in, acknowledged his role but said he would not implicate others.

Today's birthdays: President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines is 56. Thought for today: Never learn to do anything. If you don't learn, you'll always find someone else to do it for you — Mark Twain.

If wages had gone up no faster than food prices in the last 20 years, the average industrial worker would be earning only $2.23 an hour instead of $3.65.

Hal Boyle . . . Ex-trucker now millionaire

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jim Walter at 50 is a multimillionaire who makes success look worthwhile.

"Life is a joy to me," he remarked. "I quit working just for money a long time ago. I get a kick out of putting things together and making them work well."

The biggest thing he has put together is the Jim Walter Corp., a sprawling network of several companies and 125 plants which he expects will do a business of $1.1 billion in the building field this year.

The firm is now America's top producer of building materials and ranks fourth in the nation as a builder of homes.

Jim, a young truckdriver with only a 12th grade education, started the firm in 1946 with $400 he had saved and $400 he borrowed from his father.

"We started building shell houses — with the outside finished but the inside left for the owner," he recalled. "Our sale price ranged from $995 to $1,495."

"We succeeded because we had a good product and were lucky to be in the right place at the right time. A big building boom was just getting started. The same idea wouldn't succeed today because it has been done."

Jim sold about 250 homes and grossed $300,000 that first year. This year his firm will market between 8,000 and 9,000 more-finished homes at an average price of $8,081 each.

Today, Walter, a graying six-footer with the exuberance of a cheerleader and the build of an athlete, could cash in his chips for $25 million, his associates believe. Jim himself figures he's probably worth nearer $20 million.

"It might depend on what day you look at the stock market returns," he said.

How did Walter succeed when hundreds of other small builders failed? Financial observers credit his organizing skill and his ability to get needed capital from big city bankers at critical junctures in his expansion program.

Jim, who is still his own best salesman, put it this way:

"There is a lot in persistence, in liking what you are doing, and in liking people and being able to judge them."

His ability at picking talent is unquestioned. Half a dozen men who stayed with him over the years are now millionaires, too.

Although Jim is a breezy, informal man and likes to be on a first-name basis with people, he regards himself as a hardnosed businessman. So do the men who work for him. They know they have to produce or go, but that if they do produce they get a larger slice of the melon.

There are over 200,000 retail stores selling greeting cards throughout the United States today.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

What bothers

senior citizens?

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for asking us senior citizens what our biggest problems are, and if we have none, how we manage to enjoy life.

Just had my 74th birthday and never felt better in my life. I walk a mile a day, stay away from boring old people, desserts, and reheaded women. I enjoy a little nip every evening before dinner, but never touch a drop before noon, no matter who's celebrating what.

ART IN SIOUX CITY

DEAR ABBY: My biggest problem is finding enough time to do the many interesting and helpful things that retirement makes possible. I've been retired for two years and I am busier now than when I was working fulltime.

The secret of a happy old age is to try to forget the years, the infirmities, and to bury yourself in the service of others. Churches and community organizations are begging for help. Everyone can be a volunteer—even if he's bedfast. There is always someone worse off than you!

MRS. J.W.H., PHILADELPHIA

DEAR ABBY: I am 67 years old, and I am crazy. I got this way taking care of my mother who is 92. She is positively the most impossible woman who ever lived. Unfortunately, she is in better health than I am. I'd sign this but she'd kill me.

STUCK IN ENCINO

DEAR ABBY: My problem wasn't mentioned in your list. It's impotence, which causes many of us men to feel depressed and dejected. We loved our wives, but we can't perform. After the doctor completes our checkups, he smiles and says: "See, it's all in your head." That's humbug!

Here we are in Florida, home of the Fountain of Youth, but like Ponce de Leon, we can't find the well.

READY, WILLING, BUT NOT ABLE

DEAR ABBY: Now that I'm retired, I've never been happier. I went back to school and tool German and typing and even a course in electricity. I've studied handwriting analysis, too. I re-roofed my own home, put up my own fence, and did my own landscaping.

I do temporary office work, not because I need the money, but because I like to get out and see what's going on in the world. I've taken genealogy jaunts and compiled 23 notebooks on my family tree. One's mental attitude has a lot to do with one's energy. And having a great grandmother who lived to be 101 didn't hurt either. (P.S. I'm a woman.)

MAKING OUT IN ORLANDO

DEAR ABBY: I'm only a kid of 92. Do I qualify for senior citizenship? I don't have any problems, but I've got a lot of relatives who are going to have plenty when I die. I'm leaving everything to the church.

GRANDPA IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: My problem is controlling my anger when people refer to me as a "SENIOR CITIZEN." Whoever thought up that ridiculous label? I am 89 years old, and I'm still active. I keep my aches and pains to myself, take an interest in my home, and my church, and my community, and do what I can for the other fellow. That's all it takes to stay young.

DEAR ABBY: I am 83 and have no problems. Death took my two good wives. Did not dare to try for a third. Afraid I'd get a lemon. I bowl in four leagues and enjoy church. I give better than one tenth of my income to God because He lets me live well.

ANDY IN JOHNSON CITY, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: You ask senior citizens to tell you their troubles. Money? It's not stretching as far as it used to. Health? Even machines wear out. I live alone and make the best of it. Boredom? Not really. I sew, play cards, work crossword puzzles, watch TV, read a lot, and love to write letters. I also do my own housekeeping and take the bus to go places. I am only 82. I am also your late mother's cousin.

BERTHA RUSHALL MACFARLAND
DEAR ABBY: I'm an "older woman" who stands 5 feet 8 inches tall, and I cannot find a dress to cover my knees!

C.P. IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 78-year-old lady, living alone. And my biggest problem is finding someone to turn my mattress

SEATTLE

More than 50 per cent of the water meters used in the United States today are at least 20 years old, do not accurately measure low flow consumption, are costly to repair and cause a huge income loss to U.S. cities.

Predict ever-widening gap between resources, needs

DENVER (AP)—There will be a $100 billion annual gap by the year 2000 between the United States' mineral output and its mineral requirements, but technological advances can help bridge it, says Elbert Osborn, director of the Bureau of Mines.

His remarks came in an address to the American Mining Congress today. The convention has drawn 3,500 delegates from 11 nations.

Within 30 years America may have to rely on foreign sources for half or more of its mineral requirements.

"Furthermore, we will be competing for those foreign mineral products with other mineral-hungry nations all over the world.

"The situation could lead to a global minerals shortage that would make our current energy crisis look like the good old days by comparison," said Osborn.

"Fortunately," he added, "we possess both the lead time and the scientific knowhow to avert such a crisis."

Osborn said the yield from existing resources can be stretched with modest improvements in technology and the larger gaps of the future met with advances in exploration techniques, substitution of materials for some minerals and recycling.

The government, and especially the Bureau of Mines under its charter, share the responsibility with the mining industry for meeting those goals, he said.

Osborn cited his bureau's research into the process designed to recover sulphur from smokestack emissions and the use of nonmagnetic taconite as a potential source of iron ore. These developments were made in some of the 23 research centers the bureau maintains across the country, he said.

Two youths fined in vendor incident

County Prosecutor Otis Hess, appearing in Municipal Court Monday, asked that charges of breaking and entering against Gerald Smith, 18, of 524 E. Elm St., and Hank Anders, 18, of 726 S. North St., be dismissed.

Instead the two were charged with malicious destruction of property and petty larceny. The former charge is a felony; the latter a misdemeanor.

Smith and Anders allegedly had taken a coin-operated trinket machine from the Sagar's Store early Friday morning, and broke it open in an attempt to get at the coins.

Each pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge and was fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Judge Reed M. Winegardner suspended the fine and jail term and placed the youths on two-year probation.

Jackie Garrison, 31, of 903 Gregg St., was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for disorderly conduct. His jail time was suspended pending one year of good behavior and on the condition that he stay out of the H&H bar.

The charges against him had been filed by a bartender of that establishment.

Margaret Furniss, 32, Derby, forfeited $200 bond when she failed to appear on a charge of check fraud.

Red novelist rips Democrats for hypocrisy

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Soviet novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn in a letter published today in Norway's biggest newspaper accused U.S. Democratic party leaders of hypocrisy and likened recent years in the United States to the last years of the Czarist system in Russia.

Solzhenitsyn's blast, which was directed also at other Western critics of the Soviet government, was contained in a 3,000-word article in the conservative newspaper Aftenposten. The letter was written to nominate another noted Soviet dissident, H-bomb physicist Andrei Sakharov, for the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize.

Accusing the West of a double standard in judging recent events in the Soviet Union and in the West, Solzhenitsyn wrote:

"This deep hypocrisy is characteristic even of today's American political life, of the Senate leaders with their distorted view of the sensational Watergate scandal."

Marriage vows exchanged in First Christian Church

Miss Sharon Kay Goldsberry became the bride of Gary Alan Frye at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in First Christian Church. The Rev. Don Baker performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Goldsberry, 734 Broadway and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Frye, 127 W. Elm St. Baskets of white carnations and gladioli enhanced the altar.

Mrs. Wayne Spengler presented a half-hour of wedding music.

Miss Goldsberry chose a floor length gown of white chiffon over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves which tapered to bridal points. The A-line skirt was slightly gathered at the back and was accented with a large taffeta bow. Her illusion veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and crystals and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and carnations. Her only jewelry was her mother's diamond cross necklace.

Miss Barbara Frye, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown with blue bodice and floral skirt. The gown was accented with empire waist and long full sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

Barry Hidy served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Vernon Klontz and Mickael Goldsberry.

Mrs. Goldsberry chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua knit two piece suit with which she combined black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Frye, wore a green knit two piece suit and black accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow and green carnations.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church social room were Miss Karen Goldsberry, sister of the bride, Mrs. and Mr. Ted Goldsberry, aunts of the bride, and Miss Judy Ratliff presided at the guest book.

The new Mrs. Frye, a senior at Washington Senior High School, is also employed at Super Shoe Mart. Her husband, a 1972 WSHS graduate, is an employee of Colonial Stair Co., Jeffersonville.

The couple will reside at 127 W. Elm St.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's new situation comedy contenders, "Lotsa Luck" with Dom DeLuise and "Diana" with Diana Rigg, have begun their Monday night ratings battles against CBS' "Gunsmoke" and ABC's "The Rookies."

If its scripts hold up, "Lotsa Luck" will survive. Its debut show marked a turning point in situation comedy. It revived the belly laugh.
"Diana," in which Miss Rigg plays an English divorcee seeking a new life as a New York fashion coordinator, may have problems. It had a few laughs, but Miss Rigg's considerable talent seemed wasted.
About "Lotsa Luck," now: DeLuise is cast as a clerk in the lost-and-found department of a bus line. That's fare enough. But Monday's show swirled around a broken flush tank in the bathroom of his home.
This was a historic premise, particularly when you consider that Jack Paar once stomped off the "Tonight" show because NBC wouldn't let him joke about a water closet. Yes indeed, times have changed.
The thread of Monday's show was that DeLuise's sister, who'd broken the flush tank by accident, had a birthday coming up. DeLuise, who'd been saving to buy a new television set, wound up buying her a new toilet.
Stay with us now. I can explain everything. This plot, in the hands of hacks, would be instant doom. But the troops on "Lotsa Luck" are solid comedy professionals and somehow everything works.
It isn't precisely high comedy, but it is precision low comedy with a fast, crazy pace and lots of mugging and sight gags. It bears the distinct mark of Carl Reiner, who with Bill Persky and Sam Denoff, adapted the series from a British television hit, "On the Buses."
DeLuise is a fine comic actor and gets better all the time. His colleagues in "Lotsa Luck" are equally good.

There's a similarly talented cast on "Diana," but that's where the similarity ends. The writing is competent, but no more.

The premiere plot had Miss Rigg moving into her brother's New York apartment, then finding a job. The brother is absent, but he has given the key to the place to everyone but John Lindsay.

Strange folks, including a great Dane, come and go. Correction: the great Dane stays, that lucky dog. There's much tumult, but Miss Rigg has little more to do than recite ho-hum lines and look amused.

She could use better lines. She's an excellent, versatile actress, as she's proved both on the stage and as Emma Peel in "The Avengers."

She gave "Diana" a good try, but the program's biggest flash came from Richard Mulligan, who played a daft television writer. I wish he'd written the show.

Judge blocks questionnaire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A temporary restraining order has blocked an attempt by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control to look into the financial interests of the state's 24,000 liquor permit holders.

Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Fred Shoemaker Monday issued the order at the request of the Ohio License Beverage Association. The order will remain in effect until a hearing is held in November.

The permit holders faced a Sept. 17 deadline in answering the questionnaires. The questionnaires were to be returned with renewal permit applications, which are still due on that date.

Ohio Perspective

Even pages got state pay hike

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The legislature that left Ohio's Capitol last week after about eight months of deliberation apparently forgot no one with regard to a pay increase. Even the pages got a raise.

Everyone from the governor and other officials elected state-wide, members of the legislature, judges throughout the state, more than 70,000 state employees, and those in county welfare departments were voted a boost.

On the last day of the session, someone pointed out that the pages in the House had been overlooked. The matter was taken care of promptly with a House resolution that raised the salaries of the schoolboy aides from $2.75 to $3.00 an hour.

The Senate earlier gave its pages the same increase.

The House resolution had substantial support from a former page—Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, who started working in the legislative halls as a Senate page and went on to later serve three terms in the powerful post of House speaker.

Kurfess noted that although the pages hold their jobs as a result of "political patronage," they normally do an outstanding job tending to the more menial needs of the lawmakers.

"They do their jobs as we would have them do their jobs," Kurfess told the House.

There was one person in the legislature who didn't get a pay increase, but that was the result of an oversight in the omnibus bill that raised the pay of legislators, elected state officials, and judges throughout Ohio.

Somehow, the assistant majority floor leader of the House was omitted from the list of increases the lawmakers voted for leaders of the two chambers. It had been the intent to boost the salary for that position to $18,500 a year — $1,000 more than regular legislators will receive, effective Jan. 1, 1975. They currently receive $14,000.

Democrats, who control the House, introduced a bill to correct the oversight, but held back after some Republicans who opposed the legislative pay raise originally hinted they wanted another shot at the entire bill.

Democratic leaders pointed out that since the other leaders and members won't get their increases until 1975 anyway, there will be time to take the matter up again next year. Rep. William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, is the current assistant majority leader but could not qualify for the raise unless he is re-elected to a new two-year term in 1974.

Farmers plunging into debt in order to buy more land

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are plunging heavily into debt to buy high-priced land, even though their net profits are soaring to new records, says the Agriculture Department.

As of last Jan. 1, farmers owed $34.5 billion in real estate, an increase of $3.2 billion from a year earlier. That represented a 10.2 per cent increase during the year, the biggest percentage rise since 1965.

The department's Economic Research Service said in a report Friday that the real estate debt increase in 1973 will "probably equal or exceed" last year's jump.

Meantime, the department has predicted that net farm income is expected to rise this year to another record of about $23.7 billion. That would be up $4 billion from the previous high set in 1972 of $19.7 billion.

The report said higher land values were part of the reason for the big rise in real estate debt, as well as "the availability of credit, high level of farm income, and interest rates below the peak" set in 1969-70.

One reason why farmers borrowed more money last year to buy land was a liberalization of lending procedures by federal land banks following changes ordered in the Farm Credit Act of 1971, the report said.

In 1972, the federal land banks — cooperatively owned by farmers themselves — increased their lending by 14.9 per cent, compared to gains of 13.6 per cent by commercial banks; 2.2 per cent by life insurance companies; and 10.1 per cent by individuals and other lenders.

LIKE IT OR NOT—YOU ALREADY HAVE AN ESTATE PLAN!

You may not realize it but you already have made an estate plan — but, is it the one you really want to go into action if and when you die?

If you die without having made a will, you have died "intestate," which means that the state in which you live will make your will for you. The result may well be nothing like what you would have wanted.

Your property, if you die "intestate," will be distributed according to law, not necessarily as you might have desired.

Your surviving "loved ones" may well be subjected to much trouble and needless expense. They may even receive nothing except headaches and heartaches.

Make a will and you decide who gets what, when they get it, in what amounts, how it will be protected, and who handles everything.

Make a will and you make sense. Right?

Cincy-LA showdown opens tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hal King, one of the forgotten faces in the Cincinnati Reds' rush to the top of the National League Western Division, said playing for "the best team in both leagues" brings out the best.

"Other teams have just nine players. We have people here we can shuffle around and win," said King.

The Reds open a two-game showdown with the skidding Los Angeles Dodgers.

It was King's dramatic pinchhit home run against the Dodgers that Cincinnati fans are labeling the turning point of 1973 for the Reds.

It was July 1, one of the hottest days of the summer at Riverfront Stadium, when King pumped pride back into the sagging Reds. He hit a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to keep the Reds from falling 12 games behind the Dodgers.

The Reds went to win three out of four in the series that ignited their hottest month in history. By winning 24 of 31 games in July, Cincinnati rejoined the race.

The fierce rivalry is renewed tonight, with Cincinnati leading Los Angeles by three games.

King joined the Reds in June, coming from the Texas Rangers — the losingest team in baseball this season.

"I was confident I'd get another chance. At first it was big letdown. I knew I wasn't going to play that much here — not with the best catcher in the world here," said King.

The 28-year-old Florida native repaid

Manager Sparky Anderson's confidence with pinch-hit homers in his first two at-bats.

"We knew he could swing the bat," said Anderson, who went shopping for power help when the Reds' hitting plummeted to a league-low .235 in mid-June.

Nebraska nudges USC in grid poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Nebraska Cornhuskers, seeking their third national college football crown in four years, moved up today to challenge defending champion

Southern California in The Associated Press' first regular season poll.

Fourth in the preseason rankings, Nebraska shot up to second place past idle Ohio State and Texas on the strength of a 40-13 opening-game rout of UCLA. The setback dropped the Bruins from 10th to 16th.

Southern Cal, which opens this Saturday night against Arkansas, received 49 first-place votes and 1,168 points from the 61 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's poll. Nebraska picked up eight first-place ballots and 1,121 points. The spread between the two in the preseason poll was 475 points.

Aaron now only four shy of Ruth record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Neither wind, nor rain nor Don Carriethers could stay Hank Aaron from No. 710...but stomach cramps kept the Atlanta slugger from his next appointed round tripper.

Aaron posted his 710th career homer in the third inning off a Carriethers' delivery, leaving him just four short of Babe Ruth's record 714. But in the fourth he ran into something not on the Giants' roster and had to leave the game.

a mishandled fly ball, leading the Padres to a 5-3 victory over Houston.

Grubb scored the Padres fourth run as left fielder Mike Easler dropped Leron Lee's fly ball. Lee was credited with a sacrifice on the play.

"Hank had severe stomach cramps so they took him to a doctor," Manager Eddie Mathews said after his club knocked off the Giants 10-4 Monday night. "The doctor called about 11 and said he was okay."

Actually, against that opponent Aaron was defenseless.

He couldn't use his bat.

Bosox tighten race by beating Orioles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Red Sox are happy to be where they are in the American League East race.

Actually, with their record they're happy to be anywhere at this stage of the season.

"We just have to go on winning," said Manager Eddie Kasko after his team did just that by beating the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 Monday night to make the race a little more interesting.

The Red Sox have lost six more games than Baltimore and before last week, weren't given more than an outside chance to catch the powerful front-runners.

But the Red Sox took three out of four games in their Boston series last week and Monday night, beat the Orioles for the fourth straight time.

Bob Bolin pulled Luis Tiant out of a seventh-inning jam and then pitched out of a bases loaded mess in the ninth to preserve Boston's crucial victory.

With the bases loaded and nobody out in the last inning, Reggie Smith caught Merv Rettenmund's fly to short left-center and threw out Jim Fuller trying to score. Bolin then retired Tommy Davis on a fly ball for the last out of the game.

A's 13, Royals 0

Vida Blue pitched a four-hitter and Joe Rudi drove in three runs to lead Oakland over Kansas City 13-0 before the largest crowd of the season at the Oakland Coliseum, 47,570.

"I'm glad we didn't give the crowd a chance to boo us," said Blue. "I sure hope they come back."

Indians 3, Yankees 2

Ted Ford singled home Cleveland's first run, then tripled and scored the second, leading the Indians to a 3-2 decision over New York. Cleveland's Dick Tidrow pitched out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the ninth.

Brewers 6, Tigers 5

Jim Colborn scattered seven hits and Dave May contributed a two-run homer to lead Milwaukee past Detroit 6-5. Colborn won his 19th game for the Brewers.

Twins 5, Rangers 4

Bobby Darwin's seventh-inning single drove in the deciding run in Minnesota's 5-4 victory over Texas. The loss was Billy Martin's first since he took over as manager of the Rangers last Saturday. The former Detroit manager had won his first two games.

Angels 7, White Sox 1

Rookie Dick Lange checked Chicago on four hits, leading a 7-1 decision over the White Sox. Lange, making only his fifth major league start, yielded a first-inning home run to Tony Muser and then blanked Chicago the rest of the way.

Brockington rated best by Bergy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati Bengals center linebacker Bill Bergy rates Green Bay's John Brockington the No. 1 runner in the National Football League.

"And behind him is MacArthur Lane," said the brawny, mustachioed 243-pound native of South Dayton, N.Y.

He winced in the locker room Saturday night as he drew a towel over his back. The former Arkansas star had an abrasion on his shoulder blade resembling a cleat mark.

"Put this down," said Bergy, jabbing the air with his finger. "I rate John Brockington as the best running back in the league. Right behind him put Lane—one, two."

Bergy was credited with a game-leading eight tackles in the winning Cincinnati effort over the bruising Green Bay Packers, 13-10, the final exhibition game for both clubs.

"I've played against a lot of running backs," said Bergy, now in his sixth pro season, "but these guys are the best."

Ross shows poise in debut

ASHLAND — Steve Ross, a former Washington C.H. Blue Lion football star, hit it big in his first collegiate football game as he quarterbacked Ashland College to a 34-27 win over Franklin (Ind.) College Saturday night before 5,000 fans.

Ross showed the poise of a veteran as he hit on 12 of 18 passes for 167 yards, including a 64-yard scoring strike. He also carried the ball 11 times for 27 yards, totaling just under 200 yards for the Eagles.

senior. Steve had a few passes dropped and not one was intercepted. He made quite a debut for Ashland College."

Ross guided the Eagles to a 27-7 lead late in the second quarter before Franklin stormed back against Ashland, which was ranked eighth by the United Press International last week. Ashland ripped off 503 yards in total offense. That's not bad for a team which was supposed to be all defense with a young, but coming offense.

Ashland will be hoping for more of the same firepower Saturday when it entertains Gustavus-Adolphus (Minn.) College at 7:30 p.m.

Don Maynard joins Cards; Jets get unnamed pick

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rookie Coach Don Coryell has St. Louis putting the football in the air more often than ever before this year, and who better to join the pass-happy Cardinals than pro football's all-time leading receiver, Don Maynard.

The Cards acquired Maynard from the New York Jets Monday for an undisclosed draft choice and were delighted to get him.

"He wants to play football and he's happy to come to St. Louis," said Joe Sullivan, director of operations for the team. "We feel he'll help our ballclub in many ways."

Maynard, a 36-year-old veteran of 15 pro campaigns, is being counted on to help tutor the Cards' youthful receiver corps which includes speedsters Mel Gray, Bobby Moore and Walker

Gillette. And if he should catch an occasional pass here and there, just to show the youngsters how it's done, the Cards wouldn't mind a bit.

Maynard has been on the receiving end of 632 passes for 11,816 yards during his career and he's scored 88 touchdowns.

Green Bay Coach Dan Devine declared Scott Hunter his starting quarterback for Sunday's game against the Jets. "Scott has done very well his last two outings," declared Devine, "although I'd like him to do better."

Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said he would reveal his team's starting quarterback Tuesday. As usual, Roger Staubach and Craig Morton are the main combatants and Landry probably will pick Staubach.

Ali wins by whisker

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — One round saved Muhammad Ali from oblivion and will bring the boxing world what it once thought would be the greatest fight ever—Ali versus Joe

That fight, in the advanced planning stages, will gross more than a million dollars but Ali showed it will be a fight between a pair of has-beens.

Ohio State gridders in excellent shape

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State takes on visiting Minnesota in a Big Ten football opener Saturday in its best physical condition in years.

"I can't remember when we were in such good shape," Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes told writers Monday. "We're very fortunate."

George Foreman knocked out Frazier in two rounds and Ali needed everything he still possessed to win the 12th round at the Forum on Monday night. That won a split decision over Ken Norton.

If he had lost, the era of Ali in boxing would have ended. Norton had beaten him, breaking Muhammad's jaw, last March 31, and the San Diego puncher landed the harder blows in the rematch.

Cincinnati Bengals pick up Van Galder

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals have picked up former Louis Cardinal quarterback Tim Van Galder and have placed injured backup quarterback Virgil Carter on the reserve list.

"It's a major blow," said coach Paul Brown Monday. "We don't even have a week to work with Van Galder before heading into our season opener."

Howard Baker loves relaxation in Tennessee

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Writer
HUNTSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Cumberland Mountains, where each day is truly a rebirth.

A man can feel free here and comfortable here — even a man whose face is known to millions.

Tennessee, Huntsville, Scott County. "Here's where I leave it all behind," says Howard H. Baker Jr., a lawyer, a native, and a United States senator. One of the Senate's Watergate inquisitors.

"I travel somewhere in the state about one day a week," says the senator. "It's sort of like going through decompression."

A mountain clearing in morning. Haze, not like in Washington, but fog that moistens the leaves and gives the vista down to the New River a wonderful glow.

Alone.

"This is the closest you can get to what the Indians saw," says Baker. The time at home is only too brief. Soon the recess will be over. Soon again, the

Miami Trace ham, turkey dinner set for Sept. 30

The annual ham and turkey dinner, sponsored by the Miami Trace Band Boosters, will be served Sunday, Sept. 30, in the high school cafeteria. The date was set by the Band Boosters at the first meeting of the school year.

The menu for the dinners, which were started in 1963, will be essentially the same, but because of increases in the cost of food, the prices of the tickets will be increased to $2 for adults and $1.25 for children 10 years old and younger.

Mrs. Frank White, the new president, introduced the other officers: Mrs. Merle Jenkins, vice president; Mrs. Charles Roush, secretary; Mrs. Charles Cunningham, treasurer; Mrs. George Arnold, reporter; and Mrs. John Melvin a member of the executive committee.

Mrs. White also introduced the new ways and means committee which is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Krieger, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Burdge, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCarty, the chairmen.

THE GROUP decided to continue the policy of providing soft drinks or hot chocolate at halftime of all home football games for both the Panthers and visiting band members as a gesture of hospitality.

Band Director Paul Febo submitted a list of items needed by the band. It included such as some instruments and uniforms.

Varous money-making projects were discussed at length and then turned over to the ways and means committee with instructions to report its decisions at the next meeting. The meetings are to be held the second Monday of each month.

Febo was complimented for his initiative in working with the band and arranging for it to appear at the Ohio State Fair. The Boosters said they feel the band gained experience and group enthusiasm through the participation.

Mrs. White said all chairmen of the dinner committees will be contacted if she feels a meeting is necessary.

Senate Caucus Room, the bright television lights, the Watergate hearings.

The courthouse, the gathering place. This is where a senator sits with men who are friends first, constituents second. This is the place for swapping stories, to be told later to a nationwide audience; the stories that give a man the aura of a regular fellow. Knee-slappers.

"Ain't that thing winding down," asks the man in the white coveralls about Watergate. "There's no person in the world any more tired of it than I am," says Sen. Baker.

He walks across the way to his office, in a two-story brick and cedar shake building. "Don't let us all drown in Watergate," says White Coverall.

Baker stops to talk with son Darek, 20, who has chosen to work with his hands. A bulldozer-dump truck operator on a gang building a road. Darek, long hair, long sideburns playfully hands his father a hardhat. "He'd probably rather I'd be in school," Darek confesses.

Gasoline prices stable

You will continue to pay just what you have been paying for gasoline at most service stations in Washington C.H. since last Jan. 1; a few had to roll back prices to the Jan. 1 levels in compliance with a government order, but for most, since they had not advanced prices, the rollback order meant nothing.

Most of the service station operators are unhappy because the wholesalers were permitted to raise the price to them. And those who have not yet been notified are uneasy because "they have had the word" that a raise will be forthcoming soon. They point out that they will have to stand the raise in the wholesale price, but are not permitted to raise their prices to compensate.

One service station operator said in no uncertain terms that "the whole business is too confusing for me" and, obviously reflecting the views of others, added "but we'll go along the best we can."

Besides rolling back, or holding, the retail prices, stickers giving the octane rating and ceiling prices for various grades must be placed on each pump. One station, which had been selling seven different blends cut the number down to five and put five stickers on the pumps. The ceiling prices at all stations vary with the octane rating.

Home. California style house. Roomy. Built with local timbers and lots of glass. Three Hondas and a couple of cars under the carport.

Off into the woods on his trail bike. The mountain air reddens the face and blows the hair. Why would a man leave this for Washington in the summer, oppressive from heat and pollution and the messes modern man has got himself into?

Then to the hammock out back to read a light, humorous book by Sam Levenson who writes about the old days. Reading nostalgia in a nostalgic place.

"Here's where I decided to run for the Senate," Baker says. Where better can a man make decisions than under a couple of shade trees.

And finally a romp with Dum-Dum, a St. Bernard. Down the long driveway of home. "She's a stubborn female," says the senator as he tries to coax Dum-Dum out of the family swimming pool.

And that's how it is, for Howard Baker, a man at home.

SEN. HOWARD H. BAKER

Wives of gasoline dealers set protest

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Wives of Greater Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Assn. members will stage a protest Thursday afternoon in opposition to federal gasoline price controls, association President Mike Kunnen reported.

Kunnen said the women will march in front of the Federal Building in an action coinciding with a national protest in Washington.

Kunnen said federal gasoline controls force dealers to lower their prices while paying more for the fuel from the major oil companies.

Opening lead - five of diamonds.

One fault the declarer must guard against is the temptation to isolate each problem as it arises instead of dealing with the hand as a whole.

Declarer won the diamond lead in dummy and played the K-Q of clubs, hoping the defense would take the ace. But East very unkindly ducked both clubs and South was then faced with a hopeless task.

When he led the ten of hearts from dummy, East covered with the queen and the king lost to the ace. Back came a heart and South could then do no better than cash eight tricks.

Declarer lost the hand on the first trick. He should have won the diamond lead with the ace instead of winning it cheaply with the ten.

South should have realized that the contract would be hard to make if the club suit could not be run. He should not have relied exclusively on the hope that the enemy would win the first or second club lead. There was a strong possibility that the first two club offerings would be refused.

By playing the ace of diamonds at trick one he could have made sure of a later diamond entry to cash the clubs after the ace was forced out. Thus, in the actual hand, South would continue with three rounds of clubs after winning the diamond lead in his hand.

East would take the ace but could not damage South. Whatever he returned declarer would later get to dummy by leading a diamond.

The entire affair rests on South's attitude at trick one. He must do more than mechanically win the opening diamond lead with the ten. Instead, he must plan the play of the hand as a whole.

Ultra-sound Is Valuable

With all the "noise" about noise pollution, is there any danger in having the teeth cleaned with an ultra-sound machine?

Miss C.S., Wash.

Dear Miss S.:

Ultrasonic vibrations are being used for a variety of reasons in dentistry, in medicine, and in factories.

Ultra-sound cuts steel, glass, and jewels. It is used in surgery of the brain. It sometimes is beneficial to painful muscle spasms of the back and neck. It is used for the treatment of some cases of bursitis and arthritis.

Ultrasonic vibrations are considered a potent tool of limitless possibilities. The application of this high sound mechanism is now successfully and

The photographer who uses a camera without the capability of lens interchangeability is indeed handicapped. Good composition demands background-foreground relationships and prospective handling, and the way to get the needed results is to slip on the lens with the proper focal length. It's the only answer.

We call this a "system camera" and the advanced worker must have this type if he is to do the job. The camera, or the system, is still only the tool; the pix are made by the photographer. Take my word for it, however, that "system camera" is worse than useless in the hands of a num-num.

The first problem the tyro must face is the selection of the best system for his purpose. Gobs of hardware is on the market bidding for his dollars. And there are many factors to take into consideration in selecting which units will serve best. The reputation of the importer, and along with that the availability of service, the integrity of the local dealer, the history of the product itself—all these must be taken into consideration in picking the camera system that will be best for you.

At Pensyl Camera Shop "system photography" has been our specialty for many years. That's our business. We like to help the lensman select the equipment that will best serve him for the specific job he wants to do. It's fun to understand and use good equipment and get results. It's frustrating to goof. Show me a lensman that's never goofed and I'll show you a camera collector that never used a camera. But we can keep goofs to a minimum. Come in and let us help you.

safely used to remove tartar that accumulates at the base of the teeth.

Dr. Seymour Roth, a dental surgeon in New York City, in a personal communication to me, said, "This valuable mechanism is replacing many of the old dental techniques. Greater speed and comfort for the patient, in addition to more meticulous thoroughness, are its chief advantages."

Dr. Roth emphasizes that the patient's exposure to small doses of ultrasonic vibrations is minimal. Therefore, he says there is complete safety in its use.

Often ultrasonic vibrations are used in conjunction with conventional methods for cleaning the teeth. The choice of either of these methods is excellent and, of course, depends on the dentist's individual evaluation of each of his patients.

Only recently I learned that my belching and bloating was due to the fact that I swallow a lot of air while I am drinking beer.

Does this make any sense?

Mr. G.B., La.

Dear Mr. B.:

Everyone swallows a small amount of air while eating, drinking or smoking.

Occasionally, excessive amounts of air may be unconsciously swallowed by tense and anxious people. This condition is known as "aerophagia." Large bubbles of air can become trapped in the stomach and produce the sensation of fullness and bloat that you describe.

The pleasant foamy head of beer contains a great deal of air. When hurriedly drunk, especially in quantity, it can produce pressure on the diaphragm and pain in the chest. When eating or drinking, in an atmosphere of relaxation, less air is trapped, and greater comfort is assured.

Is it true that ear wax can sometimes cause a cough?

Miss E.A., Okla.

Dear Miss A.:

It is strange but definitely true that impacted wax can be responsible for a persistent cough.

A tiny nerve in the outer ear canal can stimulate the vagus nerve and sometimes produces a persistent cough.

Many doctors have observed the fact that even when they remove wax from a patient's ear, the patient sometimes will momentarily cough.

With the price of chicken on the rise, chicken growers are keeping an eye on an experiment in which French breeders succeeded in producing dwarf pullets, whose birdlike appetites sharply cut feed costs at the same time the tiny hens produce normal-sized chicks to be fattened for marketing.

Fair Board plans for 1974

The Fayette County Fair Board, meeting Monday in the Mahan building, began making plans for the 1974 event. Entertainment and possible schedule changes for the fair were discussed.

Much of the meeting was devoted to additional improvements to the Fairground facilities.

Directors heard a progress report on the installation of new chain link fence. Workers currently are completing a second section of the fencing which will eventually enclose the grounds. Board members voted to purchase an additional section of fencing to be used along the south side of the grounds.

Board President Eddie Kirk reported that progress is being made on plans to install drain tile to eliminate wet areas on the grounds. It is anticipated that this project will be completed this fall.

The board is considering the addition of a tractor pull as an attraction for future fairs. Recommendations for entertainment and schedule changes will be studied during the next few months.

The board approved the payment of routine bills, authorized the secretary to renew the liability insurance, and made preliminary plans for participation in the Ohio Fair Managers Convention Jan. 2-4.

Commissioners seek applicants for clerk post

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners will be conducting interviews Sept. 21 to fill the position of board clerk.

Applications are available in the county auditor's office and must be returned to Auditor Mary Morris by Sept. 21.

Mrs. Morris has resigned the clerk's position effective Jan. 1 but will remain as county auditor. Her reason for resigning is "added responsibilities in the auditor's office."

During the board's meeting Monday, John Jackson, 723 Willard St., was employed as janitor for the Courthouse and county jail. He will replace Paul Johns who is retiring.

Floyd Stookey was employed to repair the roofs of the Children's Home and the old part of the county jail.

Bids will be opened at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 1 for fleet insurance. The specifications are now being prepared.

Dayton firm hit by U.S. charge of discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has accused a Dayton, Ohio, homebuilder of boosting prices for black buyers, in the first government housing discrimination suit in that city.

The civil suit was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Dayton against Custom Craft Construction Co.

The suit said the company practiced racial discrimination by offering white buyers less expensive terms than black buyers.

The suit asked for an injunction prohibiting the company from discriminatory practices.

Damage set at $50 as truck blazes up

The Washington Fire Department was called at 4:45 a.m. Tuesday to a truck blaze on Dayton Avenue. The generator of a tractor-trailer rig apparently shorted out, causing a small fire.

The truck is owned by Terry Roades, New Vienna. Damage was estimated at $50.

rival and probably a reflection on their shortcomings.

Because the situation recurs regularly, the institute has devised these maxims for the "freshman on campus."

1. Adopt the stance of a learner. You have a lot to learn about the organization, its past practices, its present power centers, its current policies.

2. Study the organization chart. You have to know who is supposed to do what.

3. Get close to somebody who knows the boss. You have to learn a great deal about him—how he likes to be kept informed, his prejudices, the people in whom he has confidence, his system of priorities.

4. Listen to your colleagues. Ask lots of questions, and don't quarrel with the answers. Of course, you must not swallow whole whatever they tell you. Check and cross-check with others who are in a position to know.

5. Discard your old frame of reference. You'll find yourself tempted on many occasions to say, "The way we did it at the ABC Company..." Even if you were hired because of the expertise you acquired there, don't mention its policies or practices by name, unless you are expressly asked to do so.

6. Stimulate your colleagues to do their own best thinking. Instead of giving your conclusions, ask for theirs.

If the facts warrant, you may find it possible to tell the boss, "Tom Stevens seems to have a good idea..." And let Stevens know you quoted him.

7. Reiterate your basic attitude of cooperation.

8. Avoid challenge. Don't force people into making choices that involve loyalty to old ties.

9. Limit overt change. Stick with the old furnishings and the old personnel as long as possible. Stress continuity even when introducing change. Present your innovations as a logical extension of what workers have done so successfully in the past.

10. Take your time. Wait several months before making any major moves. It takes that long in most companies to win acceptance and credibility. No boss expects you to revolutionize the organization overnight.

Group finds new executive 'drowns' easily

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — "The surest way for the new man to commit suicide is to do dramatically what he was hired to do—namely, bring in new ideas and a fresh burst of activity."

This is the professional opinion of psychologists and psychiatrists at the Organizational Behavior Institute, which counsels and trains executives on personal relationships and advises corporations on personnel matters.

Because they are launched on a floodtide of praise and feel compelled to maintain the momentum, very effective men drown shortly after being hired, said Dr. Mortimer Feinberg, president.

In attempting to demonstrate his abilities and success patterns, the new worker may polarize others into opposition. His colleagues view him as a

Kiwanians introduced to mountain climbing

Some of the basic rules for mountain climbing were explained to the Kiwanis Club Tuesday night by Kiwanian Howard Ford with the ovce of experience.

While not many of the Kiwanians are not likely to put the rules into practice, at least they know now what to do and what not to do if they should ever yield to an urge to get up in that part of the world.

Ford said he learned on his first climb that proper equipment is essential; that the climber must be in good physical condition; that climbing too fast will bring on "mountain sickness" from lack of oxygen at high altitudes; and that the summit should

WEED CONTROL — A representative of a chemical firm explains weed control to a group of Fayette County farmers and fertilizer dealers who toured four area farms Monday morning. The purpose of the tour was to view the results of no-till planting.

Farmers view corn methods

Forty-five Fayette County corn producers and fertilizer dealers participated in a no-till corn tour held on four area farms Monday.

The tour included two fields farmed by Roger Bonham, one being corn-planted in sod with no-tillage, the second being corn-planted minimum till in soybean stubble.

The second stop on the tour was a field farmed by Barton Montgomery which was no-till corn-planted in sod.

The third farm was that of Robert Pero where the group saw no-till corn following no-till corn and no-till corn following the removal of the first cutting of alfalfa-orchard grass hay.

The fourth farm was that of Drexel Hynes where the group observed double-cropped soybeans following this year's wheat harvest.

The purpose of the tour, according to County Agricultural Agent John Gruber, was to provide local farmers with a chance to see a variety of no-till situations.

GRUBER SAID there has been much interest in no-till corn in 1973 due to the wet spring which severely reduced the amount of time available for field work. The tour was designed to assist

Armed forces in revolt

Allende toppled in Chile?

SALVADOR ALLENDE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chilean armed forces rose up against President Salvador Allende today and demanded that he resign. Radio reports monitored in Argentina said the Western Hemisphere's only elected Marxist government had been toppled.

Air force planes swooped menacingly over Government House in downtown Santiago and troops and tanks surrounded the building. Allende, barricaded inside, managed to broadcast a defiant message, vowing "to resist by every means even at the cost of my life."

Moments later telephone and telegraph communications were cut off with the outside world and broadcasts monitored in neighboring countries indicated the armed forces controlled the state radio network.

International flights were canceled and truck drivers en route to Chile over the rugged Andean mountains said the borders were closed.

"The armed forces and the carabineros — Chile's elite police force — are ready to initiate a historic action for the liberation of the fatherland from the Marxist yoke," said a military communique monitored in Buenos Aires. "...The Chilean workers can have the security that their economic and social conquests will not suffer fundamental modifications."

Rapid-fire military announcements, issued in the names of the top military commanders, asked the people to stay in their homes and avoid demonstrations, even in support of the new military junta apparently to be established.

The military had remained outside Chilean politics since 1930, but were drawn in after the 64-year-old Allende won election in October 1970.

Gilligan to call special session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan said today he will call the General Assembly back into special session the week of Oct. 22.

Gilligan said in a statement the purpose would be for lawmakers to put into the law "strong, clear and effective controls over political campaign financing in all elections" and to act on pending legislation to modernize elections.

The Democratic governor, in a letter to the majority and minority leaders of both houses, called the recently completed first session of the 110th General Assembly "extremely productive."

He added: "I firmly believe that certain reforms in our election laws which I first proposed last January, should be enacted into law before the opening of the campaign year of 1974."

He urged leadership in both houses to appoint a special joint committee to begin hearings next week on new campaign spending legislation.

The General Assembly adjourned Aug. 28 after eight months in session.

"Never have we had a better opportunity," Gilligan said, "with a more receptive public atmosphere to outlaw all of the sleazy practices which have undermined our electoral system and have shaken our people's faith in their government."

The governor wants the legislature also to act on three bills that already have passed the House and are pending in a Senate committee headed by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati.

The bills would clarify residency requirements, extend the closing time of polls and revamp the current voter registration system.

Gilligan said if both houses could agree on final passage of election

under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee began hearings today on two legislative proposals aimed at protecting newsmen from revealing their sources.

The committee, headed by Sen. Paul Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, began hearing a proposed constitutional amendment as well as a bill authorized by Gillmor that would expand Ohio's current shield law.

Ohio's current law protects reporters only from divulging sources, but does not detail what happens to a newsmen subpoenaed for grand jury testimony.

Gillmor has said he feels a recent Supreme Court ruling on a California shield law, similar to Ohio's, may have weakened protection for state newsmen.

His bill would shield reporters from contempt for failing to divulge information, but would not protect reporters who actively participate in criminal activity.

reform legislation by Nov. 1, the new laws could be effective for the 1974 elections.

He did not set a time limit on the session.

Cambodian generals executed

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — At least 12 officers in the Cambodian army were executed last Friday for ordering their troops to retreat before an enemy attack near besieged Kompong Cham, reliable sources reported today.

The executions were ordered after an inspection of Kompong Cham, Cambodia's third largest city 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, by Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, the commander in chief of the Cambodian army, the sources said. They reported he issued a general order to upper-echelon commanders to shoot anyone refusing to fight.

It was the first report of executions of Cambodian army officers for desertion in the face of the enemy in the three years of war in Cambodia.

The sources gave this account of the incident:

The officers were first lieutenants and captains who pulled their men back last Thursday during an attack by the Khmer Rouge insurgents on government defensive positions at the village of Balaing, two miles north of Kompong Cham.

The officers' general behavior under fire demoralized the troops under their command and resulted in high casualties among them.

The officers ordered the retreat without their men firing a shot at the Khmer Rouge and without consulting their superior officers.

At Kompong Cham today, the government forces were reported attacking the insurgents holding the southern part of the town in an attempt to catch the rebels in a pincer movement.

Chillicothe fire kills 3 persons

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Three persons died early today when a fire gutted the bedroom of a downtown Chillicothe home.

Firemen tentatively identified two of the victims as Norval Marshall, thought to be in his 70s, and Adeline Marshall, believed to have been in her 30s. The identity of a child killed in the blaze was not immediately determined.

Firemen said it appeared the three had died of smoke inhalation.

The fire apparently was touched off by a faulty electric blanket, firemen said.

The blaze was reported by a neighbor shortly before 7 a.m.

Little cigar ads banned by bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A measure to extend the broadcast ban on cigarette advertising to little cigars has been passed by the House and sent to President Nixon.

The law, approved 287 to 63, would take effect 30 days after signing.

EVERYONE'S A CRITIC — Wayne Watson was strumming his guitar and enjoying a pleasant day along Brandywine Creek near Wilmington, Del., when his dog Reuben decided to take a swim. Wayne was surprised with an unexpected shower when Reuben chose to shake himself dry next to his friend.

Nixon not subject to court orders?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers were expected to argue before a nine-judge appeals court today that the president is not subject to court orders.

The lawyers hoped to convince the U.S. Circuit Court that Nixon cannot be compelled to turn over the White House tape recordings on Watergate sought by special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

The appeal stemmed from the Aug. 29 order by Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that he be allowed to hear the tapes to determine what, if anything, should be turned over to the grand jury.

The appeals court Monday rejected a request from the Senate Watergate committee for time to present its own arguments as a friend of the court.

That left today's hearing a three-way argument over Nixon's attempt to nullify Sirica's decision, Cox's attempt to expand it, and support of Sirica's position by two law professors selected by the judge.

Sirica said Monday he would welcome a court order permitting Cox to join him in listening to the tapes. In preliminary pleadings filed by his lawyers, he said he would welcome Cox's help "in determining whether any of the conversations might be legitimately privileged from disclosure."

In another development, the House voted 334 to 11 to initiate contempt action against Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy.

Liddy refused even to take the oath as a witness before a House intelligence subcommittee last July in its probe of alleged Central Intelligence Agency connections with Watergate.

He already is serving an eight-month contempt-of-court sentence for refusing to tell what he knows to the Watergate grand jury. After that term, he faces an 80-month to 20-year prison term for his conviction in the Watergate break-in.

The congressional contempt charge carries a maximum of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Connally eyes 1976 election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Democrat John Connally has acknowledged he's thinking about running for the presidency in 1976 and says he will have to decide by 1975.

On the occasion of yet another welcome into the Republican party, the former Navy secretary, former Democratic governor of Texas, former Treasury secretary and former aide to President Nixon displayed great pleasure in dueling verbally with newsmen about his presidential intentions.

At a news conference after a day-long meeting of the Republican National Committee, at which GOP leaders expressed confidence that the Watergate scandal would not hurt their 1974 and 1976 prospects, Connally was asked whether he had thought about running.

"If you were asking me if I've thought of that possibility, I'll just stipulate that right now," he replied.

Asked when he would have to decide, Connally replied that "any person would have to face that decision, I think, at some point in 1975."

$280,000 flow for legal fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's re-election committee has spent $280,000 in the past three months to defend itself and top officials in legal actions arising from the Watergate break-in and other campaign activities.

The committee, in its quarterly report to the General Accounting Office released Monday, listed $48,000 in legal expenses for finance chairman Maurice H. Stans.

Stans, former secretary of Commerce in the first Nixon term, was scheduled to go on trial today in New York along with former attorney general and Nixon campaign chief John N. Mitchell on charges arising from a secret $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert Vesco.

A committee spokesman said Stans' legal expenses have been paid in connection with various civil suits and grand jury and Senate testimony but not in the New York case.

Under a policy adopted last April, the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President says it will pay legal expenses of its current and former officials, but only up to the filing of formal criminal charges.

Stans reportedly has spent $100,000 out of his own pocket in the New York trial.

According to the quarterly report,

Stans remains on the committee payroll at $1,500 per month.

The next largest payment for legal expenses was $28,750 to the law firm representing Jeb Stuart Magruder, former deputy campaign chief who pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the Watergate break-in.

Another $24,495 in legal fees were paid for former campaign treasurer Hugh W. Sloan, who has appeared frequently before various grand juries and the Senate Watergate committee but apparently faces no charges.

The committee also reported paying $106,339 to two law firms that have represented the committee in general and some of its lesser officials in various civil actions, principally a suit for damages brought by the Democratic National Committee.

Legal fees for the past three months brought to $517,000 the total legal expenses of the Nixon re-election committee since the Watergate break-in on June 17, 1972.

In its quarterly report, the committee showed a cash balance of $4 million as of Aug. 31. It took in $564,000, mainly in close-out transfers from state committees, and spent $983,000.

Besides salaries and legal fees, the committee returned $395,000 in contributions, most of it from five corporations that admitted earlier this year to dipping illegally into corporate funds to make their donations.

General Telephone settlement near?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An official of the Communications Workers of America in Ohio said today a "last minute hitch" had temporarily delayed announcement of a settlement in the union's two-month-old strike of General Telephone Co.

Rolled steel price boosts gain approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cost of Living Council has approved a two-stage increase in the price of steel that an official says will eventually raise the price of such products as home appliances and autos.

Major steel companies will be able to increase the price of flat rolled steel an average $4.50 a ton on Oct. 1 and again on Jan. 1, the council said Monday.

The steel companies had wanted the $9-a-ton increase all at once, beginning next week. The council said the full increases average about 4.8 per cent over the current $150 to $200-a-ton price.

Council director John T. Dunlop said, "In due course there will be some effect on consumer prices, but there are several stages of production before that will be possible."

At a public hearing two weeks ago, one steel company executive estimated the increases would hike the cost of autos by about $11.88, a 15-cubic-foot refrigerator by 56 cents and an ordinary toaster by 1 cent.

Dunlop said the steel companies had fully justified the proposed increases. He said the council felt there was no justification in trimming or denying them and only could delay them to spread the impact over a 3½-month period of time.

In another development, the council acknowledged Monday, in response to questions, that it had given the Ford Motor Co. permission to make some former optional features standard on its 1974 models.

These options reportedly amount to $64 per car and are in addition to the $74-per-vehicle increase the council granted Ford last Friday.

Beef price situation still unstable

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Beef marketers were confused Monday whether the cost of red meat on grocers' counters would go up or down now that federal price controls have been lifted.

First indications from the Livestock News Service in Columbus showed steers selling within a dollar per hundred pounds of last week's prices. In Cleveland, prices dipped from $1 to $2 from the previous week.

A Columbus spokesman said buying was slow Monday in order to establish a market.

Ohio meat packers predicted earlier a short dip in beef costs as a result of an expected flow of cattle to the market.

Before the controls ended, retailers weren't sure of the effects of the freeze lifting. Now that the guidelines are suspended, store owners still aren't sure of the result.

A spokesman for Cincinnati-based Kroger expected prices to rise. Big Bear in Columbus told shoppers beef costs would remain stable for two weeks. A representative of Producers' Livestock predicted price cuts in the state within the next few days.

Ed McLaughlin, the producers representative from Marysville, said, "Farmers in some states have been holding their cattle back, fattening them for the time when they could get higher prices."

"But consumers are not going to pay the prices asked for these poorer cuts of meat," he predicted.

As a result, McLaughlin forecasts "sharp discounts" in prices in the next few days when western beef reaches Ohio.

"It is impossible to make any prediction," a spokesman for Kroger grocery chain said. "We have been losing money on beef. An adjustment in some areas is inevitable."

A spokesman for Super Duper Markets in Columbus said consumers would notice no immediate change after the price ceiling lift. Prices, he said, would depend on the market.

Though a spokesman for Big Bear said prices would not rise for at least four days when western beef reaches Ohio.

notice any effect on the price by the lifting of the freeze. He added, however, that larger supplies are expected.

Another market manager said the supplies of beef have increased since the lifting of the price freeze, but declined to speculate on the future price trend.

Another reported that one cut of beef is being offered as a "special" this week.

THE LIFTING of the freeze has brought a flood of cattle to markets across the country and with it a sharp drop in prices at the major cattle markets. This is expected to show up soon on the retail meat counters.

Larger beef supplies, price drop seen here

Now that the ceiling has been lifted, people here can logically expect to find more beef and better cuts in the retail markets, a spot check of markets here indicates.

Most of the retailers also expect the price to drop in the near future, but how much it will drop is anybody's guess.

One supermarket meat department manager said it is still too early to

in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Authorities are continuing their search for six men who escaped in a daylight breakout from the Jefferson County Jail Monday.

The men escaped shortly before 1 p.m. when they scaled a barbed wire fence which was put around the jail in late 1971.

Associate warden G.C. Vanderpool said the escapees used an eight-inch long hacksaw blade to cut through two bars in a second-floor jail window.

They then climbed over one barbed wire fence onto the roof of the jail carpentry shop, down a wall to the street level and over the barbed wire fence to freedom, Vanderpool said.

Ohio schools ask help with food, fuel shortages

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Board of Education Monday asked federal and state officials to take steps to prevent a crisis in food and fuel for the state's 5,038 schools.

"Without immediate federal action neither school districts nor parents will be able financially to provide pupils, especially in Ohio's major urban centers and impoverished rural areas, with essential food," said Board President James Meckstroth.

The board asked the federal government to restore the milk subsidy for all school children, increase support for all school lunches and increase the subsidy for free and reduced price lunches for needy children.

The Ohio Department of Education said federal cutbacks coupled with soaring prices and food shortages have increased school lunch prices by 12 per cent this year.

The department said the federal milk subsidy has been reduced from $97 million to $25 million nationally for the current year.

Western European leaders skeptical about U.S. policy

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — West European leaders agree that President Nixon's trip to Europe this fall will produce far less than the "New Atlantic Charter" Henry Kissinger has proposed.

As part of his Year of Europe, Nixon wanted a large-scale summit meeting with America's European allies. The result was to be a resounding new statement of principles for the 24-year-old North Atlantic Alliance.

But Europeans say Nixon and Kissinger failed to take the precaution of consulting them in advance about these ideas. They suspected that the

Mitchell-Stans trial slated in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Barring a last-minute postponement from an appeals court, jury selection in the trial of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans gets under way today in U.S. District Court.

The three-judge U.S. Appeals Court panel was to hear arguments on new defense requests to delay the one-time Cabinet officers' trial on charges of conspiracy, obstruction of justice and perjury.

The appeals court could grant the request to postpone the proceeding, possibly for one month. It could reject the request. Or it could reserve decision with or without halting the trial.

Mitchell and Stans, the leaders of President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, are accused of obstructing a major fraud investigation of financier Robert L. Vesco after Vesco made a secret $200,000 cash contribution to the Nixon campaign fund last year.

The contribution, with an additional $50,000 donated publicly by Vesco, was returned to him earlier this year. The refund came four months before the indictments in May but after the Securities and Exchange Commission filed a massive civil fraud suit against Vesco.

Since the indictment was returned against Mitchell and Stans last May 10, defense attorneys have sought unsuccessfully to dismiss charges or delay the trial, saying that "massive pretrial publicity" had precluded a fair trial.

Pretrial publicity prompted Presiding Judge Lee P. Gagliardi to summon 1,500 prospective jurors, the largest panel in the memory of court officials. Jury selection could take three to four days, possibly one week.

Oil available

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton says the answer to expanding the nation's oil supply lies under the continental shelf.

But Morton assured a meeting of wildlife and conservation officials from 50 states Monday that the off-coast drilling would be allowed only after adequate environmental safeguards were provided.

Marriage ceremony marks couple's entry into Army

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmy Lee and Jacqueline Peck are now husband and wife, and they're off for Army basic training, at separate camps. But the military says better days are ahead for the couple.

Municipal Court Judge Ronald Swearinger, an Air Force Reserve officer, married the two at an Army recruiting station Monday — and then signed both up for service with Uncle Sam.

"The recruiter kinda thought of it, and I kinda went along," said Lee, a 20-year-old with dark shoulder-length hair and a brush mustache. "I guess it's a pretty big occasion in my life."

Lee enlisted for four years as an infantryman. His wife, 19, enlisted for three years as a telephone operator. The two have known each other since high school days in suburban Alhambra.

The ceremonies took place at the Armed Forces building in a small Surplus food commodities donated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture are also expected to be cut by 50 per cent in value and variety, the department said.

Meanwhile, board member William M. Baker of Painesville asked that federal and state officials take the necessary steps to assure fuel for the schools.

Baker said a fuel shortage could effect heating and school bus operations this winter. He added that closing of many of the state's schools is a possibility.

The board adopted a resolution controlling the sale of food in competition with school lunch programs. The action brought the state into compliance with federal regulations.

The federal government requires that local boards of education participating in the National School Food Service Program not authorize food and beverage services for profit unless the proceeds go to the school's lunchroom fund.

President was using them for domestic political purposes.

Why, some of their diplomats asked, should the alliance be redefined just at this point to suit his convenience?

The result was a decision Monday by the nine countries of the European Common Market to make a strict division between talks on defense and economic matters. They are ready to talk about both, but in different frameworks.

They don't want to bring military and economic problems into the same meeting for fear that the United States will demand economic concessions in return for its spending on the defense of Europe.

The nine Common Market countries said they would draw up a declaration of "European identity" to make clear to the rest of the world the significance of their new community.

They want to point out that they are pledged to the creation of a European union by the end of the 1970s, though they refrained from saying just what that would mean.

At the same time, they sent Nixon a broad list of 10 subjects they want to discuss, plus a draft of a joint statement they hope to make on economic matters.

Producers Livestock Market here Tuesday and the run was about normal for a Tuesday auction; between 200 and 300 were expected. The price of cattle here was between $49 and $51 at the start of the day. This was a drop of about $3 from the previous week but still about $10 better than this time a year ago.

The manager of the cattle department explained that the lack of a big run at the market here was due many feeders having sold their cattle before the freeze. Since most of the animals here are marketed as "fat cattle," feeders in general find it more practical to sell their cattle when they are ready rather than keep them on feed for higher prices.

He also theorized that when beef starts coming to the retail markets in quantity again, and bring with it the prospect of lower prices, consumers may wait for the cost to go down, thus backing up the supply.

The lifting of the freeze on beef raises another question important to Fayette County: How will the increase in beef and prospect of lower prices affect the hog market?

The increase in meat supplies apparently has not discouraged rustling. Twelve fat hogs were reported stolen from the Producers Market stockyards sometime Monday night or early Tuesday.

Police charge youth with lacquer-sniffing

A 16-year-old Washington C.H. boy was apprehended near the water treatment plant where he was found sniffing lacquer. He was discovered by police, surrounded by paper bags, both clean and lacquer soaked.

According to officers, he was incoherent at the time he was picked up.

County Health Council eyes major projects

Two topics of major potential were discussed in generalities and at length at a meeting of the Fayette County Health Planning Council Monday afternoon in Memorial Hospital.

One was a vast communication system for hospitals and emergency vehicles and the other was a program for expanding the ambulance service. Both the communication system and ambulance service were considered as a part of the 17-county Mid-Ohio Health Planning Federation.

The Council voted to apply for one of the 50 $400,000 grants offered by the Johnson & Johnson Co. for a communication system which would link the hospitals and emergency vehicles of the 17-county area together with short wave radio, similar to the present Citizens Band Radio system. Since the Johnson & Johnson program is on a nationwide basis and only 50 grants are available, the application for a grant to the 17-county Mid-Ohio organization is admittedly a long shot.

WITH A BILL setting up expanded and more efficient ambulance service now before the Ohio legislature, the Fayette County Health Planning Council reviewed the provisions of the bill and their application here. In general, the bill would require more sophisticated ambulance equipment and specially trained staffs on fulltime duty.

Since it would be up to the city and county to comply with the provisions of the bill — if it is approved — copies are to be sent to members of the City Council and Fayette County Board of Commissioners so they may have time to study the provisions.

Robert Kunz, Memorial Hospital administrator, commented after the meeting that the present ambulance service here is adequate and very satisfactory. "We (at the hospital) have had no complaints," he added.

Kunz also reported to the Council that 12 of the 13 graduates of the Memorial Hospital School of Practical Nursing had passed the state board examination and that the other member of the class, who was unable to take the exam at that time, will take it later.

Mrs. Jean Coe, RN, director of the school said five members of both the first and second graduating classes are now employed at Memorial Hospital. Many of the others are employed at nursing homes and convalescent centers here and elsewhere.

The third class of 16 started its studies Sept. 4.

Senate panel eyes wiretaps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson agreed today to let a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee read FBI summaries of national security wiretaps to facilitate confirmation hearings on Henry A. Kissinger's nomination to be Secretary of State.

Richardson scheduled an afternoon meeting with Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and John Sparkman, D-Ala. The attorney general said they could not have access to the raw files but could read FBI summaries of what was learned from the wiretaps.

The full committee, in its third day of hearings on Kissinger's nomination, has been seeking access to the summaries in order to learn what role the national security adviser played in placing the wiretaps on 13 government officials and four newsmen in 1969 and 1970.

Richardson refused several times to give the full committee the summaries, claiming such access could lead to leaks which might damage either national security or the reputations of those under surveillance.

Female voice floats down from Skylab

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A woman stowaway aboard the Skylab space station? The astronauts tried to make mission control think so.

The center was running smoothly Monday night when a woman's voice beamed down from the orbiting laboratory.

"Hello, Houston, this is Skylab. Are you reading me down there?"

Silence fell in the control center. Everyone looked surprised.

"Hello, Houston, are you reading Skylab?" the sexysounding voice repeated.

Capsule communicator Robert Crippen, who minutes earlier had been conferring with astronauts Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, overcame momentary surprise and replied:

"Ah, Skylab, this is Houston. I heard you all right. But I had a little difficulty recognizing your voice. Who've we got on the line here?"

"Isn't that you down there, Bob?" the woman's voice asked. "This is Helen here in Skylab. The boys haven't had a homecooked meal in so long I thought I would bring one up. Over."

"Roger, Skylab," Crippen said.

"I think someone has to be pulling my leg. Helen, is that really you?" A center spokesman later explained that Garriott had recorded the voice of his wife, Helen, during a private radio conversation Sunday night.

The incident demonstrated the high spirits of the three astronauts as they begin the last two weeks of their 59-day orbital mission.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved lower today in moderate trading in a decline analysts said was prompted in part by profit taking and in part by worries over inflation and rising interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was down 7.22 at 884.11, while declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by nearly 3 to 1.

On the New York Stock Exchange, a block of 99,900 shares of Munford traded at 7, down 3/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the noon market-value index was down .87 at 100.45, while the NYSE index was down .51 at 55.10.

Other Big Board prices included Phillips Petroleum, down 1 1/4 to 51 1/2 after a recent comment by an analyst reducing his estimate of the company's North Sea reserves.

On the Amex, Syntex was off 1 1/2 to 93 1/2, and McCulloch Oil was down 3/4 to 4 1/4.

A cool front is moving southward across the Upper Great Lakes today and will be moving across Ohio this afternoon and tonight, the National Weather Service reports.

It was a little warmer over the state Monday with high temperatures ranging from 73 at Youngstown and Burke Lakefront Airport in downtown Cleveland, to 78 in the Dayton and Cincinnati areas. Early today temperatures were in the upper 40s and 50s under clear skies.

Partly cloudy skies are expected to accompany the cool front today with clearing tonight and Wednesday. High temperatures today are forecast in the 70s and low 80s, lows tonight in the upper 40s and low 50s and highs Wednesday in the upper 60s and 70s.

Fair weather in Ohio Thursday will be followed by a chance of showers Friday and Saturday. Highs will be in the low 70s Thursday, warming to the low 80s by Saturday. Lows Thursday will be in the low 50s, warming to around 60 by Saturday.

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Police report that a woman who asked them not to divulge her name was rescued Monday after a 10-foot alligator chased her up a tree.

She called for help, and a neighbor summoned police, who roped the reptile and helped the woman down.

Rangers from the State Parks & Wildlife Service arrived later and took the alligator to a marshy area from which, they said, it may have had been forced by high water.

Savings and loans hurt by squeeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savings and loan associations say the Federal Reserve Board has cost them thousands of customers this summer and dried up the market for housing mortgages.

With interest rates at their highest mark in history, the Federal Reserve was the prime target Monday of the savings and loan associations, mutual savings banks, small businessmen and homebuilders when the House Banking Committee opened a two-week hearing on the credit squeeze.

Since the Federal Reserve took the ceilings off interest rates for savings rate in commercial banks in July, large banks increased their net deposits in consumer accounts by $510 million, while savings and loan associations lost $313 million in July and more in August, Raleigh W. Greene, president of the National League of Insured Savings Associations, said.

Since the savings and loan industry provides more than half the mortgage money in this country, this has further

Nixon would tap 'ghost' oil field

By JACK LEFLER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Elk Hills naval oil reserve that President Nixon wants to tap to alleviate the energy crisis is virtually a ghost field. But oil sources say it could be in production within 60 days after a go-ahead signal.

The 70-square-mile reserve, located 10 miles north of Taft in the San Joaquin Valley, is considered the largest inland accumulation of oil in California and is among the five largest known U.S. oil reservoirs.

It was established in 1912 by President William Howard Taft to be used only in time of war.

Nixon told Congress on Monday that production from the 1.2-billion-barrel pool beneath the Central California desert is needed to ward off a heating oil shortage on the West Coast next winter.

He said his representatives "will seek the necessary consultations with members of Congress in order to increase production of oil from Elk Hills."

During World War II, 27 million barrels of oil were produced at Elk Hills.

Capt. George P. Dowd, commander of Elk Hills, said the reserve's 1,032 existing wells have been kept near-operational and could be producing 160,000 barrels a day within 60 days.

Only 2,500 barrels of oil a day are now being pumped to maintain underground pressure and keep equipment in working order.

Of that amount, 80 per cent is sold by the Navy. Standard Oil Co. of California, which holds a lease on a portion of the reserve, gets the other 20 per cent for running the facility for the government. Standard has 78 men working at the reserve. The Navy has between 20 and 30 men there.

Union, firm clash over safety plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus Coated Fabrics and a union leader remained deadlocked today over implementation of an 11-point program to insure the safety of workers in the company's print shop.

About 100 workers walked off the job last week after 11 persons were treated for an ailment traced to the print shop operation. Doctors said they have peripheral neuritis, which causes weaknesses in the fingers, arms and legs.

The 11-point safety program includes a medical surveillance plan and ventilation procedures to handle the apparent cause, a new solvent being used to dye cloth. The program was proposed by a three-member medical team.

State phone use curbed

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The public information officer at the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services has been ordered to stop using the office and its phone to solicit Democratic Party contributions, the office director said.

Donald Sheehan said Monday he was instructed by Gov. John Gilligan to prohibit Nettie Manley from soliciting contributions over the office phone.

State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, made public charges contained in a letter addressed to Gilligan and Bureau Director William Barnes.

Aronoff claimed Miss Manley publicized her office phone number in a newspaper as a source of information for pledging donations to a national Democratic Party telethon fund-raiser later this week.

Aronoff said he and an aide called Miss Stanley at her office and were asked to contribute "as much as you can."

firm has agreed to implement the program, but can't until all the employees return to work.

Smith said after a Monday session with the company, "At this point I am not optimistic about anything."

He said the union has sought legal advice on the possibility of a suit against the firm.

State controlling board OKs funds for schools, auto tags

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Controlling Board released $2.5 million to state universities Monday to help them assist underprivileged students. The money, to be spent over a one-year period, will go for such services as counseling.

Henry Whitcomb of the Ohio Board of Regents said many students from Appalachia and urban centers need help in areas other than studies. He said a similar program at Bowling Green State University, financed by private contributions, had reduced drop-outs.

The universities got $1.2 million for the same project in the last biennium. Whitcomb said no more than 10 per cent of the money would be used for recruiting students from low income families.

"In many cases," he said, "these students are the first generation of their family to go to college. They need help other than just in reading, writing and arithmetic."

In other action, the board released $13.9 million for four sewer treatment facility projects and gave routine approval for release of the $66.5 million in September school foundation funds.

Two of the sewage treatment facilities will be in the Cleveland Regional Sewer District, a third in Miami Conservancy District, Warren County, and the fourth in Newark, Licking County.

Because of trouble with equipment at the Lebanon Correctional Institute, the board gave approval to the Department of Highway Safety to purchase an extra 2.8 million 1974 license plates from Strutco Division of King Sealy Thermos Co., Freeport, Ill.

The board approved a $774,000 request for 3 million of the plates from INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Otis R. Bowen's energy expert will be dispatched on a statewide "politicizing tour" next week to arouse seemingly apathetic Hoosiers to the gravity of the energy crisis.

Growing communities and growing electrical needs -there's a connection.

Almost everywhere you look, you see signs of progress and growth. New stores. New factories. New schools. New homes and apartments by the hundreds. Each one is another important consumer of electric power.

Is it any wonder DP&L is being called on to supply more than twice as much electricity as it did just ten years ago?

DP&L has been building and planning for years to have available the generating capacity needed today. We must continue building to be ready for the greatly increased demands expected in the years ahead. In the next five years alone, we need to spend more than $500,000,000—that's a half-billion dollars!—for the generating plants and power delivery systems required to keep pace.

Much of the money for necessary new facilities will have to be borrowed at high prevailing interest rates. Other costs—for construction, labor and materials—continue to rise despite intensive, company-wide economy measures.

Eventually, the higher costs of providing quality service must be reflected in the rates paid by our customers.

Simply stated, it's the price of having the electric power you need, ready when you want it.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Mexico's growth poses problem

MEXICO CITY — The floods and the earthquake, taking such a heavy toll, made the headlines. But another kind of flood with a far more ominous meaning for the future gets little or no notice.

That is the flood of people rising at a rate in Mexico greater than anywhere else in the world. The disaster of this flood cannot be confined to Mexico's own borders, as the affluent neighbor to the north will in the years just ahead have good reason to know. In fact, the reservoir of the jobless and the poor is already overflowing across the border.

An unofficial estimate puts the number of illegal Mexicans in the United States at one million. Customs and immigration officers recently launched a drive to push 450,000 of these illegals back across the border. The fear here is that those who are pushed back, having had even a limited experience of higher standards, will turn to violence and terror.

MOREOVER, it is a revolving-door operation. The expellees take the first opportunity to go back and, the long border being as porous as a sieve, this is not too difficult. Organized exploiters take all they can get to truck these hapless people to a border point.

This is one aspect of the rising flood that should be met with a joint effort beyond political expediency. Organized labor fought the practice of United of introducing a resolution to implement his views. He has told his colleagues "it is time to move the Watergate investigation from the living rooms of America and put it where it belongs - behind the closed doors of the committee room and before the judge and jury in the courtroom." Is it, indeed?

Does the investigation, whose purpose includes the essential intent of exposing the truth of a great national scandal, in truth belong behind closed doors? We think emphatically not. A speedy conclusion is desirable, but this should be reached insofar as possible in full public view.

States firms on the border sending goods into Mexico for finishing at greatly reduced costs. Farm workers in California and the Southwest, defending their own low wage standards, opposed a revival of the organized bracero program under which Mexicans were allowed to cross over to do field work under careful supervision for several months of the year.

But this is really a minor symptom of what threatens to become a major illness unless through some joint effort the root cause can be attacked. President Luis Echeverria in his State of the Union message spoke frankly — Mexico's present population of 56 million will double in 20 years and by the end of the century there will be 135 million, requiring, as the President put it, food, housing, education, employment and all types of services.

This in a country where these requirements today fall far short of the need. What with the high birth rate and the decrease in mortality the present population growth is 3.5 per cent a year. That is higher than India — higher than any populous country in Asia or Africa.

DEFYING his critics who say his policy is inflationary, President Echeverria outlined a bold policy of expanded education. He put stress on new technological schools for agriculture and livestock.

During his first three years in office 262 new schools have been established, bringing the total to 331. He proposed creating a new university in addition to the huge institutions with their hundreds of thousands of students already in being.

Echeverria put the total budget for education at $1.2 billion, up 91 per cent since 1970. It is a brave effort that will tax the government's resources, and particularly in light of the difficulty in reforming a tax system that allows the rich to get by with such low rates.

Whether the expansion can ever catch up with the need is a question that must go unanswered.

FIGURES are hard to come by. Perhaps 75 per cent of the population is under 35, half and under 25. What that means in raising the new generation above the subsistence level is all too obvious.

The parents of the millions of Mexicans of the year 2000 are already born or about to be born, Echeverria told the Congress in proposing additions to the present rather limited population law.

The casual visitor seeing the flood of infants and the very young in the streets and squares needs no reminder of that truth. But birth rates do not make headlines unless and until the human flood reaches the disaster level.

the United States in a tough mood.

And they feel increasingly free to suppress internal dissent, believing that even the imprisonment of a Solzhenitsyn and a Sakharov would not bring economic reprisals from Washington.

THE MYTH that the Cold War is over has been assiduously cultivated in Washington. Even so hard-headed a commentator as Joseph C. Harsch of the Christian Science Monitor observed with seeming approval that "the West has finally, at long last, accepted the control by the men of the Kremlin of everything lying between the Pripiet marshes and the River Elbe. Another way of saying it is that the West has finally ratified the Yalta agreements."

This is a strange formulation since the Yalta agreements included a preamble affirming the Four Freedoms, and provided for free elections in the liberated nations of Eastern Europe.

In point of fact, the Soviet Union never ratified Yalta (Communists governments were imposed by Soviet bayonets. But the Harsch article is significant because it quietly accepts a completely asymmetrical definition of detente. The Cold War is ending because we have folded our hand. As one symptom, American-Soviet talks about Mutual and Balanced Force Reductions in Europe have — after some classic Russian stonewalling over trivia — been redefined as negotiations on "mutual reduction of forces and armaments and associated measures in central Europe." What happened to "balanced"?

This is not a play on words. The NATO powers insisted from the outset that "balanced" reductions were crucial. The Soviets have generously offered to pull out a significant number of divisions — that is, march them back two or three hundred miles — if the United States did the same.

In the latter case, of course, the divisions would retire 3,000 miles. This is simply a bad joke, but it was supposed to be countered by the notion of strategic balance. Nonetheless the topic under discussion starting Oct. 30 in Vienna is "mutual" reductions.

THE SOVIET UNION, in short, is having a field day, while in the United States nobody but Sen. Henry Jackson, George Meany and a handful of liberals and social democrats seems to care, seems to realize that so far our "give and take" with Moscow has been all give and no take.

Which brings me back to Chou En-Lai, who has never been known to take his eye off the ball. The other day Chou sent a message to Moscow which Americans might ponder. "If you are so anxious to relax world tension," asked Chou, "why don't you show your good faith by doing a thing or two — for instance, withdraw your armed forces from Czechoslovakia or Mongolia and return the four northern (Kurile) islands to Japan?"

Later he sardonically inquired whether China must give the Soviets "all the territory north of the Great Wall . . . to show that we favor relaxation of world tension and are willing to improve Sino-Soviet relations?"

Extremely good questions. Let us pray that someone in Washington is going to start asking similarly specific and pointed questions about the nature of detente.

In 1777, forces under Gen. George Washington were defeated by the British in the battle of Brandywine near Wilmington, Del.

In 1814, U.S. ships defeated a British fleet in the battle of Lake Champlain. In 1850, Jenny Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," gave her first concert in America at Castle Garden in New York.

In 1914, during World War I, an Australian force captured German New Guinea.

Hal Boyle . . . Ex-trucker now millionaire

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jim Walter at 50 is a multimillionaire who makes success look worthwhile.

"Life is a joy to me," he remarked. "I quit working just for money a long time ago. I get a kick out of putting things together and making them work well."

The biggest thing he has put together is the Jim Walter Corp., a sprawling network of several companies and 125 plants which he expects will do a business of $1.1 billion in the building field this year.

The firm is now America's top producer of building materials and ranks fourth in the nation as a builder of homes.

Jim, a young truckdriver with only a 12th grade education, started the firm in 1946 with $400 he had saved and $400 he borrowed from his father.

"We started building shell houses — with the outside finished but the inside left for the owner," he recalled. "Our sale price ranged from $995 to $1,495."

"We succeeded because we had a good product and were lucky to be in the right place at the right time. A big building boom was just getting started. The same idea wouldn't succeed today because it has been done."

Jim sold about 250 homes and grossed $300,000 that first year. This year his firm will market between 8,000 and 9,000 more-finished homes at an average price of $8,081 each.

Today, Walter, a graying six-footer with the exuberance of a cheerleader and the build of an athlete, could cash in his chips for $25 million, his associates believe. Jim himself figures he's probably worth nearer $20 million. "It might depend on what day you look at the stock market returns," he said.

How did Walter succeed when hundreds of other small builders failed? Financial observers credit his organizing skill and his ability to get needed capital from big city bankers at critical junctures in his expansion program.

Jim, who is still his own best salesman, put it this way:

"There is a lot in persistence, in liking what you are doing, and in liking people and being able to judge them."

His ability at picking talent is unquestioned. Half a dozen men who stayed with him over the years are now millionaires, too.

Although Jim is a breezy, informal man and likes to be on a first-name basis with people, he regards himself as a hardnosed businessman. So do the men who work for him. They know they have to produce or go, but that if they do produce they get a larger slice of the melon.

There are over 200,000 retail stores selling greeting cards throughout the United States today.

What bothers senior citizens?

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for asking us senior citizens what our biggest problems are, and if we have none, how we manage to enjoy life.

Just had my 74th birthday and never felt better in my life. I walk a mile a day, stay away from boring old people, desserts, and redheaded women. I enjoy a little nip every evening before dinner, but never touch a drop before noon, no matter who's celebrating what.

ART IN SIOUX CITY

DEAR ABBY: My biggest problem is finding enough time to do the many interesting and helpful things that retirement makes possible. I've been retired for two years and I am busier now than when I was working fulltime.

The secret of a happy old age is to try to forget the years, the infirmities, and to bury yourself in the service of others. Churches and community organizations are begging for help. Everyone can be a volunteer—even if he's bedfast. There is always someone worse off than you!

MRS. J. W. H., PHILADELPHIA

DEAR ABBY: I am 67 years old, and I am crazy. I got this way taking care of my mother who is 92. She is positively the most impossible woman who ever lived. Unfortunately, she is in better health than I am. I'd sign this but she'd kill me.

STUCK IN ENCINO

DEAR ABBY: My problem wasn't mentioned in your list. It's impotence, which causes many of us men to feel depressed and dejected. We loved our wives, but we can't perform. After the doctor completes our checkups, he smiles and says: "See, it's all in your head." That's humbug!

Here we are in Florida, home of the Fountain of Youth, but like Ponce de Leon, we can't find the well.

READY, WILLING, BUT NOT ABLE

DEAR ABBY: Now that I'm retired, I've never been happier. I went back to school and took German and typing and even a course in electricity. I've studied handwriting analysis, too. I re-roofed my own home, put up my own fence, and did my own landscaping.

I do temporary office work, not because I need the money, but because I like to get out and see what's going on in the world. I've taken genealogy jaunts and compiled 23 notebooks on my family tree. One's mental attitude has a lot to do with one's energy. And having a great grandmother who lived to be 101 didn't hurt either. (P.S. I'm a woman.)

MAKING OUT IN ORLANDO

DEAR ABBY: I'm only a kid of 92. Do I qualify for senior citizenship? I don't have any problems, but I've got a lot of relatives who are going to have plenty when I die. I'm leaving everything to the church.

GRANDPA IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: My problem is controlling my anger when people refer to me as a "SENIOR CITIZEN." Whoever thought up that ridiculous label? I am 89 years old, and I'm still active. I keep my aches and pains to myself, take an interest in my home, and my church, and my community, and do what I can for the other fellow. That's all it takes to stay young.

HAPPY IN SUN CITY

DEAR ABBY: I am 83 and have no problems. Death took my two good wives. Did not dare to try for a third. Afraid I'd get a lemon. I bowl in four leagues and enjoy church. I give better than one tenth of my income to God because He lets me live well.

ANDY IN JOHNSON CITY, N.Y.

DEAR ABBY: You ask senior citizens to tell you their troubles. Money? It's not stretching as far as it used to. Health? Even machines wear out. I live alone and make the best of it. Boredom? Not really. I sew, play cards, work crossword puzzles, watch TV, read a lot, and love to write letters. I also do my own housekeeping and take the bus to go places. I am only 82. I am also your late mother's cousin.

BERTHA RUSHALL MACFARLAND
DEAR ABBY: I'm an "older woman" who stands 5 feet 8 inches tall, and I cannot find a dress to cover my knees!

C.P. IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 78-year-old lady, living alone. And my biggest problem is finding someone to turn my mattress

Predict ever-widening gap between resources, needs

DENVER (AP)—There will be a $100 billion annual gap by the year 2000 between the United States' mineral output and its mineral requirements, but technological advances can help bridge it, says Elbert Osborn, director of the Bureau of Mines.

His remarks came in an address to the American Mining Congress today. The convention has drawn 3,500 delegates from 11 nations.

Within 30 years America may have to rely on foreign sources for half or more of its mineral requirements.

"Furthermore, we will be competing for those foreign mineral products with other mineral-hungry nations all over the world.

"The situation could lead to a global minerals shortage that would make our current energy crisis look like the good old days by comparison," said Osborn. "Fortunately," he added, "we possess both the lead time and the scientific knowhow to avert such a crisis."

Osborn said the yield from existing resources can be stretched with modest improvements in technology and the larger gaps of the future met with advances in exploration techniques, substitution of materials for some minerals and recycling.

The government, and especially the Bureau of Mines under its charter, share the responsibility with the mining industry for meeting those goals, he said.

Osborn cited his bureau's research into the process designed to recover sulphur from smokestack emissions and the use of nonmagnetic taconite as a potential source of iron ore. These developments were made in some of the 23 research centers the bureau maintains across the country, he said.

Two youths fined in vendor incident

County Prosecutor Otis Hess, appearing in Municipal Court Monday, asked that charges of breaking and entering against Gerald Smith, 18, of 524 E. Elm St., and Hank Anders, 18, of 726 S. North St., be dismissed.

Instead the two were charged with malicious destruction of property and petty larceny. The former charge is a felony; the latter a misdemeanor.

Smith and Anders allegedly had taken a coin-operated trinket machine from the Sagar's Store early Friday morning, and broke it open in an attempt to get at the coins.

Each pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge and was fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Judge Reed M. Winegardner suspended the fine and jail term and placed the youths on two-year probation.

Jackie Garrison, 31, of 903 Gregg St., was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for disorderly conduct. His jail time was suspended pending one year of good behavior and on the condition that he stay out of the H&H bar.

Red novelist rips Democrats for hypocrisy

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Soviet novelist Alexander Solzhenitsyn in a letter published today in Norway's biggest newspaper accused U.S. Democratic party leaders of hypocrisy and likened recent years in the United States to the last years of the Czarist system in Russia.

Solzhenitsyn's blast, which was directed also at other Western critics of the Soviet government, was contained in a 3,000-word article in the conservative newspaper Aftenposten. The letter was written to nominate another noted Soviet dissident, H-bomb physicist Andrei Sakharov, for the 1973 Nobel Peace Prize.

Margaret Furniss, 32, Derby, forfeited $200 bond when she failed to appear on a charge of check fraud.

Accusing the West of a double standard in judging recent events in the Soviet Union and in the West, Solzhenitsyn wrote:

"This deep hypocrisy is characteristic even of today's American political life, of the Senate leaders with their distorted view of the sensational Watergate scandal."

Marriage vows exchanged in First Christian Church

Miss Sharon Kay Goldsberry became the bride of Gary Alan Frye at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in First Christian Church. The Rev. Don Baker performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Goldsberry, 734 Broadway and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Frye, 127 W. Elm St. Baskets of white carnations and gladioli enhanced the altar.

Mrs. Wayne Spengler presented a half-hour of wedding music.

Miss Goldsberry chose a floor length gown of white chiffon over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves which tapered to bridal points. The A-line skirt was slightly gathered at the back and was accented with a large taffeta bow. Her illusion veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and crystals and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink rosebuds and carnations. Her only jewelry was her mother's diamond cross necklace.

Miss Barbara Frye, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a formal length length gown with blue bodice and floral skirt. The gown was accented with empire waist and long full sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed summer flowers.

Barry Hidy served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Vernon Klontz and Mickael Goldsberry.

Mrs. Goldsberry chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua knit two piece suit with which she combined black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Frye, wore a green knit two piece suit and black accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow and green carnations.

Hostesses for the reception held in the church social room were Miss Karen Goldsberry, sister of the bride, Mrs. and Mr. Ted Goldsberry, aunts of the bride, and Miss Judy Ratliff presided at the guest book.

The new Mrs. Frye, a senior at Washington Senior High School, is also employed at Super Shoe Mart. Her husband, a 1972 WSHS graduate, is an employee of Colonial Stair Co., Jeffersonville.

The couple will reside at 127 W. Elm St.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's new situation comedy contenders, "Lotsa Luck" with Dom DeLuise and "Diana" with Diana Rigg, have begun their Monday night ratings battles against CBS' "Gunsmoke" and ABC's "The Rookies."

If its scripts hold up, "Lotsa Luck" will survive. Its debut show marked a turning point in situation comedy. It revived the belly laugh.

"Diana," in which Miss Rigg plays an English divorcee seeking a new life as a New York fashion coordinator, may have problems. It had a few laughs, but Miss Rigg's considerable talent seemed wasted.

About "Lotsa Luck," now: DeLuise is cast as a clerk in the lost-and-found department of a bus line. That's fare enough. But Monday's show swirled around a broken flush tank in the bathroom of his home.

This was a historic premise, particularly when you consider that Jack Paar once stomped off the "Tonight" show because NBC wouldn't let him joke about a water closet. Yes indeed, times have changed.

The thread of Monday's show was that DeLuise's sister, who'd broken the flush tank by accident, had a birthday coming up. DeLuise, who'd been saving to buy a new television set, wound up buying her a new toilet.

Stay with us now. I can explain everything. This plot, in the hands of hacks, would be instant doom. But the troops on "Lotsa Luck" are solid comedy professionals and somehow everything works.

It isn't precisely high comedy, but it is precision low comedy with a fast, crazy pace and lots of mugging and sight gags. It bears the distinct mark of Carl Reiner, who with Bill Persky and Sam Denoff, adapted the series from a British television hit, "On the Buses." DeLuise is a fine comic actor and gets better all the time. His colleagues in "Lotsa Luck" are equally good.

There's a similarly talented cast on "Diana," but that's where the similarity ends. The writing is competent, but no more.

Ohio Perspective

Even pages got state pay hike

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The legislature that left Ohio's Capitol last week after about eight months of deliberation apparently forgot no one with regard to a pay increase. Even the pages got a raise.

Everyone from the governor and other officials elected state-wide, members of the legislature, judges throughout the state, more than 70,000 state employees, and those in county welfare departments were voted a boost.

On the last day of the session, someone pointed out that the pages in the House had been overlooked. The matter was taken care of promptly with a House resolution that raised the salaries of the schoolboy aides from $2.75 to $3.00 an hour.

The Senate earlier gave its pages the same increase.

The House resolution had substantial support from a former page—Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, who started working in the legislative halls as a Senate page and went on to later serve three terms in the powerful post of House speaker.

Kurfess noted that although the pages hold their jobs as a result of "political patronage," they normally do an outstanding job tending to the more menial needs of the lawmakers.

"They do their jobs as we would have them do their jobs," Kurfess told the House.

There was one person in the legislature who didn't get a pay increase, but that was the result of an oversight in the omnibus bill that raised the pay of legislators, elected state officials, and judges throughout Ohio.

Somehow, the assistant majority floor leader of the House was omitted from the list of increases the lawmakers voted for leaders of the two chambers. It had been the intent to boost the salary for that position to $18,500 a year — $1,000 more than regular legislators will receive, effective Jan. 1, 1975. They currently receive $14,000.

Democrats, who control the House, introduced a bill to correct the oversight, but held back after some Republicans who opposed the legislative pay raise originally hinted they wanted another shot at the entire bill.

Democratic leaders pointed out that since the other leaders and members won't get their increases until 1975 anyway, there will be time to take the matter up again next year. Rep. William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, is the current assistant majority leader but could not qualify for the raise unless he is re-elected to a new two-year term in 1974.

Farmers plunging into debt in order to buy more land

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are plunging heavily into debt to buy high-priced land, even though their net profits are soaring to new records, says the Agriculture Department.

As of last Jan. 1, farmers owed $34.5 billion in real estate, an increase of $3.2 billion from a year earlier. That represented a 10.2 per cent increase during the year, the biggest percentage rise since 1965.

The department's Economic Research Service said in a report Friday that the real estate debt increase in 1973 will "probably equal or exceed" last year's jump.

Meantime, the department has predicted that net farm income is expected to rise this year to another record of about $23.7 billion. That would be up $4 billion from the previous high set in 1972 of $19.7 billion.

The report said higher land values were part of the reason for the big rise in real estate debt, as well as "the availability of credit, high level of farm income, and interest rates below the peak" set in 1969-70.

One reason why farmers borrowed more money last year to buy land was a liberalization of lending procedures by federal land banks following changes ordered in the Farm Credit Act of 1971, the report said.

In 1972, the federal land banks — cooperatively owned by farmers themselves — increased their lending by 14.9 per cent, compared to gains of 13.6 per cent by commercial banks; 2.2 per cent by life insurance companies; and 10.1 per cent by individuals and other lenders.

Direct loans to buy farms held by the Farmers Home Administration rose nearly 13 per cent last year, the report said.

During the first half of 1973, new farm mortgage money loaned by federal land banks totaled $1.4 billion.

LIKE IT OR NOT—YOU ALREADY HAVE AN ESTATE PLAN!

You may not realize it but you already have made an estate plan—but, is it the one you really want to go into action if and when you die?

If you die without having made a will, you have died "intestate", which means that the state in which you live will make your will for you. The result may well be nothing like what you would have wanted.

Your property, if you die "intestate", will be distributed according to law, not necessarily as you might have desired.

Your surviving "loved ones" may well be subjected to much trouble and needless expense. They may even receive nothing except headaches and heartaches.

Make a will and you decide who gets what, when they get it, in what amounts, how it will be protected, and who handles everything.

Make a will and you make sense. Right?

Congratulations to: Debbie Duff for winning the Home Environment Award and a trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

To the Paint Valley Camp Fire Girls for their efforts in raising $650.00 for the Muscular Dystrophy Assn.

We, at The First National Bank of Washington Court House, are NOT in the legal business.

But, we can, and will, guide you to concerned, careful attorneys who are qualified to help you make a valid, practical WILL.

That's part of our complete service!

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 12

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)

Follow a program planned with foresight — not spur-of-the-moment action which could lead to nowhere.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)

In discussions, be clear and definite so there will be no misunderstandings, but tone down your innate obstinacy and tendencies toward belligerence.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

It may be a crowded day, but you have the mental ability to see your way through. Just don't overtax yourself or burn the proverbial candle at both ends.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Lunar influences now warn against unsettled notions and weak or deceptive associations; also indifference, which could lead to confused situations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Be alert to schemers and those offering dubious propositions. Don't allow yourself to be taken in by rosy promises, no matter how convincing the promoter may be.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't disregard little warning signals. Keep your imagination controlled in all areas. There's a tendency now to let it run out of bounds.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Listen to new and unique ideas, of course, but don't give up on projects that are going well. Be receptive to new methods, too, but don't go in for fads.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mixed influences will bring some advantages, some disadvantages. Study all the factors involved in any

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

You may find yourself in the midst of controversy. Don't let it stymie your efforts. Rather, get together with opponents and use your fine gifts of mediation to resolve issues.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

As with Leo, you, too, may encounter the deceptive and the unscrupulous now. Be alert, and don't forsake principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

Before you become involved in activities relating to the future, get TODAY'S under way. Some extra benefits indicated.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine intellect, great versatility and lofty ambitions. You like people and get along with most but are adamant in your likes and dislikes; unyielding in your beliefs and principles. With your many talents, there is a wide variety of fields in which you could succeed career-wise, but notably in literature and the theater. You are also attracted to mechanics and have a flair for invention; would make a brilliant lawyer, or statesman or, if you learn to curb your tendency to be overexacting with those under your supervision, would make an outstanding teacher. Secrets are always safe with you, so you would be a stand-out as a confidential secretary.

Cincy-LA showdown opens tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hal King, one of the forgotten faces in the Cincinnati Reds' rush to the top of the National League Western Division, said playing for "the best team in both leagues" brings out the best. "Other teams have just nine players. We have people here we can shuffle around and win," said King. The Reds open a two-game showdown with the skidding Los Angeles Dodgers. It was King's dramatic pinchhit home run against the Dodgers that Cincinnati fans are labeling the turning point of 1973 for the Reds.

It was July 1, one of the hottest days of the summer at Riverfront Stadium, when King pumped pride back into the sagging Reds. He hit a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning to keep the Reds from falling 12 games behind the Dodgers. The Reds went to win three out of four in the series that ignited their hottest month in history. By winning 24 of 31 games in July, Cincinnati rejoined the race. The fierce rivalry is renewed tonight, with Cincinnati leading Los Angeles by three games. King joined the Reds in June, coming from the Texas Rangers — the losingest team in baseball this season. "I was confident I'd get another chance. At first it was big letdown. I knew I wasn't going to play that much here — not with the best catcher in the world here," said King. The 28-year-old Florida native repaid Manager Sparky Anderson's confidence with pinch-hit homers in his first two at-bats. "We knew he could swing the bat," said Anderson, who went shopping for power help when the Reds' hitting plummeted to a league-low .235 in mid-June.

Nebraska nudges USC in grid poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Nebraska Cornhuskers, seeking their third national college football crown in four years, moved up today to challenge defending champion

Southern California in The Associated Press' first regular season poll. Fourth in the preseason rankings, Nebraska shot up to second place past idle Ohio State and Texas on the strength of a 40-13 opening-game rout of UCLA. The setback dropped the Bruins from 10th to 16th. Southern Cal, which opens this Saturday night against Arkansas, received 49 first-place votes and 1,168 points from the 61 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's poll. Nebraska picked up eight first-place ballots and 1,121 points. The spread between the two in the preseason poll was 475 points.

Two first-place votes went to Ohio State, which dropped from second to third with 838 points. Texas went from third to fourth with 819 points.

Michigan held on to fifth place with one first-place vote and 683 points while Alabama, Penn State, Notre Dame and Tennessee retained the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth spots. Penn State got the other No. 1 vote.

Idle Colorado, tied with Oklahoma for 11th in the preseason balloting, moved up to 10th, replacing UCLA.

Oklahoma was 11th, followed by Auburn, Arizona State, Florida and Louisiana State, who each climbed one spot to the 12-13-14-15 positions. UCLA, now 16th, was followed by the holdover 17-18-19-20 teams from the first poll—North Carolina State, Houston, North Carolina and Texas Tech.

N.C. State, the only other member of the preseason Top Twenty to see action over the weekend, drubbed East Carolina 57-8.

Brockington rated best by Bergy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati Bengals center linebacker Bill Bergy rates Green Bay's John Brockington the No. 1 runner in the National Football League.

"And behind him is MacArthur Lane," said the brawny, mustachioed 243-pound native of South Dayton, N.Y. He winced in the locker room Saturday night as he drew a towel over his back. The former Arkansas star had an abrasion on his shoulder blade resembling a cleat mark.

"Put this down," said Bergy, jabbing the air with his finger. "I rate John Brockington as the best running back in the league. Right behind him put Lane—one, two."

Bergy was credited with a game-leading eight tackles in the winning Cincinnati effort over the bruising Green Bay Packers, 13-10, the final exhibition game for both clubs.

"I've played against a lot of running backs," said Bergy, now in his sixth pro season, "but these guys are the best."

Ross shows poise in debut

ASHLAND — Steve Ross, a former Washington C.H. Blue Lion football star, hit it big in his first collegiate football game as he quarterbacked Ashland College to a 34-27 win over Franklin (Ind.) College Saturday night before 5,000 fans.

Ross showed the poise of a veteran as he hit on 12 of 18 passes for 167 yards, including a 64-yard scoring strike. He also carried the ball 11 times for 27 yards, totaling just under 200 yards for the Eagles.

FRED MARTINELLI, Ashland's head football coach, said, "Steve played a great game. He had to call a lot of automatics at the line of scrimmage and he ran the team like a

Don Maynard joins Cards; Jets get unnamed pick

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Rookie Coach Don Coryell has St. Louis putting the football in the air more often than ever before this year, and who better to join the pass-happy Cardinals than pro football's all-time leading receiver, Don Maynard.

The Cards acquired Maynard from the New York Jets Monday for an undisclosed draft choice and were delighted to get him.

"He wants to play football and he's happy to come to St. Louis," said Joe Sullivan, director of operations for the team. "We feel he'll help our ballclub in many ways."

Maynard, a 36-year-old veteran of 15 pro campaigns, is being counted on to help tutor the Cards' youthful receiver corps which includes speedsters Mel Gray, Bobby Moore and Walker quite a debut for Ashland College." Ross guided the Eagles to a 27-7 lead late in the second quarter before Franklin stormed back against Ashland, which was ranked eighth by the United Press International last week. Ashland ripped off 503 yards in total offense. That's not bad for a team which was supposed to be all defense with a young, but coming offense.

Ashland will be hoping for more of the same firepower Saturday when it entertains Gustavus-Adolphus (Minn.) College at 7:30 p.m.

Aaron now only four shy of Ruth record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Neither wind, nor rain nor Don Carriethers could stay Hank Aaron from No. 710...but stomach cramps kept the Atlanta slugger from his next appointed round tripper.

Aaron posted his 710th career homer in the third inning off a Carriethers' delivery, leaving him just four short of Babe Ruth's record 714. But in the fourth he ran into something not on the Giants' roster and had to leave the game.

"Hank had severe stomach cramps so they took him to a doctor," Manager Eddie Mathews said after his club knocked off the Giants 10-4 Monday night. "The doctor called about 11 and said he was okay."

Actually, against that opponent Aaron was defenseless.

He couldn't use his bat. Elsewhere in the abbreviated National League schedule, Pittsburgh pounded Chicago 11-3 and San Diego tripped Houston 5-3.

Stomach trouble got Aaron out which was something the Giant pitchers couldn't do. Aaron singled in the first off Juan Marichal for his 99th hit of the season before reaching the century total on his 37th homer of the season. It was the 39-year-old Aaron's fourth homer of the month and raised his 1973 average to a season-high .288.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Boston Red Sox are happy to be where they are in the American League East race.

Actually, with their record they're happy to be anywhere at this stage of the season.

"We just have to go on winning," said Manager Eddie Kasko after his team did just that by beating the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 Monday night to make the race a little more interesting.

The Red Sox have lost six more games than Baltimore and before last week, weren't given more than an outside chance to catch the powerful front-runners.

But the Red Sox took three out of four games in their Boston series last week and Monday night, beat the Orioles for the fourth straight time.

Bob Bolin pulled Luis Tiant out of a seventh-inning jam and then pitched out of a bases loaded mess in the ninth to preserve Boston's crucial victory.

With the bases loaded and nobody out in the last inning, Reggie Smith caught Merv Rettenmund's fly to short left-center and threw out Jim Fuller trying to score. Bolin then retired Tommy Davis on a fly ball for the last out of the game.

A's 13, Royals 0 Vida Blue pitched a four-hitter and Joe Rudi drove in three runs to lead Oakland over Kansas City 13-0 before the largest crowd of the season at the Oakland Coliseum, 47,570.

"I'm glad we didn't give the crowd a chance to boo us," said Blue. "I sure hope they come back."

Indians 3, Yankees 2 Ted Ford singled home Cleveland's first run, then tripled and scored the second, leading the Indians to a 3-2 decision over New York. Cleveland's Dick Tidrow pitched out of a one-out, bases-loaded jam in the ninth.

Brewers 6, Tigers 5 Jim Colborn scattered seven hits and Dave May contributed a two-run homer to lead Milwaukee past Detroit 6-5. Colborn won his 19th game for the Brewers.

Twins 5, Rangers 4 Bobby Darwin's seventh-inning single drove in the deciding run in Minnesota's 5-4 victory over Texas. The loss was Billy Martin's first since he took over as manager of the Rangers last Saturday. The former Detroit manager had won his first two games.

Angels 7, White Sox 1 Rookie Dick Lange checked Chicago on four hits, leading a 7-1 decision over the White Sox. Lange, making only his fifth major league start, yielded a first-inning home run to Tony Muser and then blanked Chicago the rest of the way.

Howard Baker loves relaxation in Tennessee

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

Associated Press Writer

HUNTSVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Cumberland Mountains, where each day is truly a rebirth.

A man can feel free here and comfortable here — even a man whose face is known to millions.

Tennessee, Huntsville, Scott County. "Here's where I leave it all behind," says Howard H. Baker Jr., a lawyer, a native, and a United States senator. One of the Senate's Watergate inquisitors.

"I travel somewhere in the state about one day a week," says the senator. "It's sort of like going through depression."

A mountain clearing in morning. Haze, not like in Washington, but fog that moistens the leaves and gives the vista down to the New River a wonderful glow.

Alone.

"This is the closest you can get to what the Indians saw," says Baker. The time at home is only too brief. Soon the process will be over. Soon again, the

Miami Trace ham, turkey dinner set for Sept. 30

The annual ham and turkey dinner, sponsored by the Miami Trace Band Boosters, will be served Sunday, Sept. 30, in the high school cafeteria. The date was set by the Band Boosters at the first meeting of the school year.

The menu for the dinners, which were started in 1963, will be essentially the same, but because of increases in the cost of food, the prices of the tickets will be increased to $2 for adults and $1.25 for children 10 years old and younger.

Mrs. Frank White, the new president, introduced the other officers: Mrs. Merle Jenkins, vice president; Mrs. Charles Roush, secretary; Mrs. Charles Cunningham, treasurer; Mrs. George Arnold, reporter; and Mrs. John Melvin a member of the executive committee.

Mrs. White also introduced the new ways and means committee which is composed of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Krieger, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Burdge, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCarty, the chairman.

THE GROUP decided to continue the policy of providing soft drinks or hot chocolate at halftime of all home football games for both the Panthers and visiting band members as a gesture of hospitality.

Band Director Paul Febo submitted a list of items needed by the band. It included such as some instruments and uniforms.

Varous money-making projects were discussed at length and then turned over to the ways and means committee with instructions to report its decisions at the next meeting. The meetings are to be held the second Monday of each month.

Febo was complimented for his initiative in working with the band and arranging for it to appear at the Ohio State Fair. The Boosters said they feel the band gained experience and group enthusiasm through the participation.

Mrs. White said all chairmen of the dinner committees will be contacted if she feels a meeting is necessary.

Senate Caucus Room, the bright television lights, the Watergate hearings.

The courthouse, the gathering place. This is where a senator sits with men who are friends first, constituents second. This is the place for swapping stories, to be told later to a nationwide audience; the stories that give a man the aura of a regular fellow. Knee-slappers.

"Ain't that thing winding down," asks the man in the white coveralls about Watergate. "There's no person in the world any more tired of it than I am," says Sen. Baker.

He walks across the way to his office, in a two-story brick and cedar shake building. "Don't let us all drown in Watergate," says White Coverall.

Baker stops to talk with son Darek, 20, who has chosen to work with his hands. A bulldozer-dump truck operator on a gang building a road. Darek, long hair, long sideburns playfully hands his father a hardhat. "He'd probably rather I'd be in school," Darek confesses.

Gasoline prices stable

You will continue to pay just what you have been paying for gasoline at most service stations in Washington C.H. since last Jan. 1; a few had to roll back prices to the Jan. 1 levels in compliance with a government order, but for most, since they had not advanced prices, the rollback order meant nothing.

Most of the service station operators are unhappy because the wholesalers were permitted to raise the price to them. And those who have not yet been notified are uneasy because "they have had the word" that a raise will be forthcoming soon. They point out that they will have to stand the raise in the wholesale price, but are not permitted to raise their prices to compensate.

One service station operator said in no uncertain terms that "the whole business is too confusing for me" and, obviously reflecting the views of others, added "but we'll go along the best we can."

Besides rolling back, or holding, the retail prices, stickers giving the octane rating and ceiling prices for various grades must be placed on each pump. One station, which had been selling seven different blends cut the number down to five and put five stickers on the pumps. The ceiling prices at all stations vary with the octane rating.

Home. California style house. Roomy. Built with local timbers and lots of glass. Three Hondas and a couple of cars under the carport.

Off into the woods on his trail bike. The mountain air reddens the face and blows the hair. Why would a man leave this for Washington in the summer, oppressive from heat and pollution and the messes modern man has got himself into?

Then to the hammock out back to read a light, humorous book by Sam Levenson who writes about the old days. Reading nostalgia in a nostalgic place.

"Here's where I decided to run for the Senate," Baker says. Where better can a man make decisions than under a couple of shade trees.

And finally a romp with Dum-Dum, a St. Bernard. Down the long driveway of home. "She's a stubborn female," says the senator as he tries to coax Dum-Dum out of the family swimming pool.

And that's how it is, for Howard Baker, a man at home.

SEN. HOWARD H. BAKER

Wives of gasoline dealers set protest

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Wives of Greater Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Assn. members will stage a protest Thursday afternoon in opposition to federal gasoline price controls, association President Mike Kunnen reported.

Kunnen said the women will march in front of the Federal Building in an action coinciding with a national protest in Washington.

Kunnen said federal gasoline controls force dealers to lower their prices while paying more for the fuel from the major oil companies.

Opening lead - five of diamonds.

One fault the declarer must guard against is the temptation to isolate each problem as it arises instead of dealing with the hand as a whole.

Declarer won the diamond lead in dummy and played the K-Q of clubs, hoping the defense would take the ace. But East very unkindly ducked both clubs and South was then faced with a hopeless task.

When he led the ten of hearts from dummy, East covered with the queen and the king lost to the ace. Back came a heart and South could then do no better than cash eight tricks.

Declarer lost the hand on the first trick. He should have won the diamond lead with the ace instead of winning it cheaply with the ten.

South should have realized that the contract would be hard to make if the club suit could not be run. He should not have relied exclusively on the hope that the enemy would win the first or second club lead. There was a strong possibility that the first two club offerings would be refused.

By playing the ace of diamonds at trick one he could have made sure of a later diamond entry to cash the clubs after the ace was forced out. Thus, in the actual hand, South would continue with three rounds of clubs after winning the diamond lead in his hand.

East would take the ace but could not damage South. Whatever he returned declarer would later get to dummy by leading a diamond.

The entire affair rests on South's attitude at trick one. He must do more than mechanically win the opening diamond lead with the ten. Instead, he must plan the play of the hand as a whole.

Ultra-sound Is Valuable

With all the "noise" about noise pollution, is there any danger in having the teeth cleaned with an ultra-sound machine?

Miss C.S., Wash.

Dear Miss S.:
Ultrasonic vibrations are being used for a variety of reasons in dentistry, in medicine, and in factories.

Ultra-sound cuts steel, glass, and jewels. It is used in surgery of the brain. It sometimes is beneficial to painful muscle spasms of the back and neck. It is used for the treatment of some cases of bursitis and arthritis.

Ultrasonic vibrations are considered a potent tool of limitless possibilities. The application of this high sound mechanism is now successfully and safely used to remove tartar that accumulates at the base of the teeth.

Dr. Seymour Roth, a dental surgeon in New York City, in a personal communication to me, said, "This valuable mechanism is replacing many of the old dental techniques. Greater speed and comfort for the patient, in addition to more meticulous thoroughness, are its chief advantages."

Dr. Roth emphasizes that the patient's exposure to small doses of ultrasonic vibrations is minimal. Therefore, he says there is complete safety in its use.

Often ultrasonic vibrations are used in conjunction with conventional methods for cleaning the teeth. The choice of either of these methods is excellent and, of course, depends on the dentist's individual evaluation of each of his patients.

Only recently I learned that my belching and bloating was due to the fact that I swallow a lot of air while I am drinking beer.

Does this make any sense?

Mr. G.B., La.

Dear Mr. B.:

Everyone swallows a small amount of air while eating, drinking or smoking.

Occasionally, excessive amounts of air may be unconsciously swallowed by tense and anxious people. This condition is known as "aerophagia." Large bubbles of air can become trapped in the stomach and produce the sensation of fullness and bloat that you describe.

The pleasant foamy head of beer contains a great deal of air. When hurriedly drunk, especially in quantity, it can produce pressure on the diaphragm and pain in the chest.

When eating or drinking, in an atmosphere of relaxation, less air is trapped, and greater comfort is assured.

Is it true that ear wax can sometimes cause a cough?

Miss E.A., Okla.

Dear Miss A.:

It is strange but definitely true that impacted wax can be responsible for a persistent cough.

A tiny nerve in the outer ear canal can stimulate the vagus nerve and sometimes produces a persistent cough.

Many doctors have observed the fact that even when they remove wax from a patient's ear, the patient sometimes will momentarily cough.

With the price of chicken on the rise, chicken growers are keeping an eye on an experiment in which French breeders succeeded in producing dwarf pullets, whose birdlike appetites sharply cut feed costs at the same time the tiny hens produce normal-sized chicks to be fattened for marketing.

Fair Board plans for 1974

The Fayette County Fair Board, meeting Monday in the Mahan building, began making plans for the 1974 event. Entertainment and possible schedule changes for the fair were discussed.

Much of the meeting was devoted to additional improvements to the Fairground facilities.

Directors heard a progress report on the installation of new chain link fence. Workers currently are completing a second section of the fencing which will eventually enclose the grounds. Board members voted to purchase an additional section of fencing to be used along the south side of the grounds.

Board President Eddie Kirk reported that progress is being made on plans to install drain tile to eliminate wet areas on the grounds. It is anticipated that this project will be completed this fall.

The board is considering the addition of a tractor pull as an attraction for future fairs. Recommendations for entertainment and schedule changes will be studied during the next few months.

The board approved the payment of routine bills, authorized the secretary to renew the liability insurance, and made preliminary plans for participation in the Ohio Fair Managers Convention Jan. 24.

Commissioners seek applicants for clerk post

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners will be conducting interviews Sept. 21 to fill the position of board clerk.

Applications are available in the county auditor's office and must be returned to Auditor Mary Morris by Sept. 21.

Mrs. Morris has resigned the clerk's position effective Jan. 1 but will remain as county auditor. Her reason for resigning is "added responsibilities in the auditor's office."

During the board's meeting Monday, John Jackson, 723 Willard St., was employed as janitor for the Courthouse and county jail. He will replace Paul Johns who is retiring.

Floyd Stookey was employed to repair the roofs of the Children's Home and the old part of the county jail.

Bids will be opened at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 1 for fleet insurance. The specifications are now being prepared.

Dayton firm hit by U.S. charge of discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has accused a Dayton, Ohio, homebuilder of boosting prices for black buyers, in the first government housing discrimination suit in that city.

The civil suit was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Dayton against Custom Craft Construction Co.

The suit said the company practiced racial discrimination by offering white buyers less expensive terms than black buyers.

The suit asked for an injunction prohibiting the company from discriminatory practices.

Damage set at $50 as truck blazes up

The Washington Fire Department was called at 4:45 a.m. Tuesday to a truck blaze on Dayton Avenue. The generator of a tractor-trailer rig apparently shorted out, causing a small fire.

The truck is owned by Terry Roades, New Vienna. Damage was estimated at $50.

rival and probably a reflection on their shortcomings.

Because the situation recurs regularly, the institute has devised these maxims for the "freshman on campus."

1. Adopt the stance of a learner. You have a lot to learn about the organization, its past practices, its present power centers, its current policies.

2. Study the organization chart. You have to know who is supposed to do what.

3. Get close to somebody who knows the boss. You have to learn a great deal about him—how he likes to be kept informed, his prejudices, the people in whom he has confidence, his system of priorities.

4. Listen to your colleagues. Ask lots of questions, and don't quarrel with the answers. Of course, you must not swallow whole whatever they tell you. Check and cross-check with others who are in a position to know.

5. Discard your old frame of reference. You'll find yourself tempted on many occasions to say, "The way we did it at the ABC Company..." Even if you were hired because of the expertise you acquired there, don't mention its policies or practices by name, unless you are expressly asked to do so.

6. Stimulate your colleagues to do their own best thinking. Instead of giving your conclusions, ask for theirs.

If the facts warrant, you may find it possible to tell the boss, "Tom Stevens seems to have a good idea..." And let Stevens know you quoted him.

7. Reiterate your basic attitude of cooperation.

8. Avoid challenge. Don't force people into making choices that involve loyalty to old ties.

9. Limit overt change. Stick with the old furnishings and the old personnel as long as possible. Stress continuity even when introducing change. Present your innovations as a logical extension of what workers have done so successfully in the past.

10. Take your time. Wait several months before making any major moves. It takes that long in most companies to win acceptance and credibility. No boss expects you to revolutionize the organization overnight.

Kiwanians introduced to mountain climbing

Some of the basic rules for mountain climbing were explained to the Kiwanis Club Tuesday night by Kiwanian Howard Ford with the voice of experience.

While not many of the Kiwanians are not likely to put the rules into practice, at least they know now what to do and what not to do if they should ever yield to an urge to get up in that part of the world.

Ford said he learned on his first climb that proper equipment is essential; that the climber must be in good physical condition; that climbing too fast will bring on "mountain sickness" from lack of oxygen at high altitudes; and that the summit should

Payton delegate to banker meet

Kenneth Payton, vice president of the Washington Savings Bank, will officially represent the Fayette County Bankers Association at the annual meeting of Group 4, Ohio Bankers Association, in Portsmouth on Sept. 18. Group 4 is comprised of Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Gallia, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton Counties.

An afternoon meeting will convene at 3 p.m. at the Elks Country Club. The afternoon program will include a business session, report from the Ohio Bankers Association staff in Columbus, and a featured speaker, Perry B. Wydman, president of the Third National Bank and Trust Co., Dayton.

The dinner and evening program will be presented at the Elks City Club Auditorium where 300 bank officers, directors and employees are to gather.

The bankers will be addressed by Willard I. Webb, chairman of the board, Ohio Citizens Trust Co., and the incumbent president of the Ohio Bankers Association.

The second feature of the evening program will be presented by Mig Figi, nationally known humorist and speaker from Waukesha, Wis.

WEED CONTROL — A representative of a chemical firm explains weed control to a group of Fayette County farmers and fertilizer dealers who toured four area farms Monday morning. The purpose of the tour was to view the results of no-till planting.

Farmers view corn methods

Forty-five Fayette County corn producers and fertilizer dealers participated in a no-till corn tour held on four area farms Monday.

The tour included two fields farmed by Roger Bonham, one being corn-planted in sod with no-tillage, the second being corn-planted minimum till in soybean stubble.

The second stop on the tour was a field farmed by Barton Montgomery which was no-till corn-planted in sod.

The third farm was that of Robert Pero where the group saw no-till corn following the removal of the first cutting of alfalfa-orchard grass hay.

The fourth farm was that of Drexel Hynes where the group observed double-cropped soybeans following this year's wheat harvest.

The purpose of the tour, according to County Agricultural Agent John Gruber, was to provide local farmers with a chance to see a variety of no-till situations.

GRUBER SAID there has been much interest in no-till corn in 1973 due to the wet spring which severely reduced the amount of time available for field work. The tour was designed to assist

Police check two break-ins

Two more business firms reported break-ins Monday.

Landmark Elevator personnel notified police that sometime during the weekend the office had been entered and a .22 caliber rifle taken. The Marathon Bulk Plant, 411 S. North St., reported that the office had been ransacked.

The Chakeres CCC Drive-In reported to the sheriff's department that four boys had been seen tearing speakers from their posts Sunday evening.
